CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL IN Spirit.

at CENTRAL

To promote school spirit is one of the key objectives of the American high school. This objective is elusive, because it cannot be measured in scholastic grades, athletic scores, or number of social events. Spirit is intangible and must be felt or caught. To achieve genuine school spirit there must be a meeting of minds, hands, and hearts, not just those of students, but of teachers and administrators, as well. Central High School, an infant in years, but a giant in resources, is striving to promote this spirit.

the Spirit of competition

that motivates us

Athletics symbolize the spirit of competition, and at Central the Knights set a challenging example for all to follow. However, we seek to encourage competition in the classroom, the shop, the activities, and the clubs which together make up the complete life at Central.

the Spirit in which we work toward Leadership

Though all of us will not be great leaders, we learn the spirit of leadership which stems from a growing sense of responsibility as we study the laws which rule the universe and govern the men who inhabit it. We strive to follow the best that we see in our administrators, our teachers, and our fellow students.

to express one's self in the Spirit of creativeness

We note imperfections about us and try to improve such conditions when we are able. Yet we desire to express through art, or drama, or music our appreciation of the beautiful and the inspiring experiences of life.

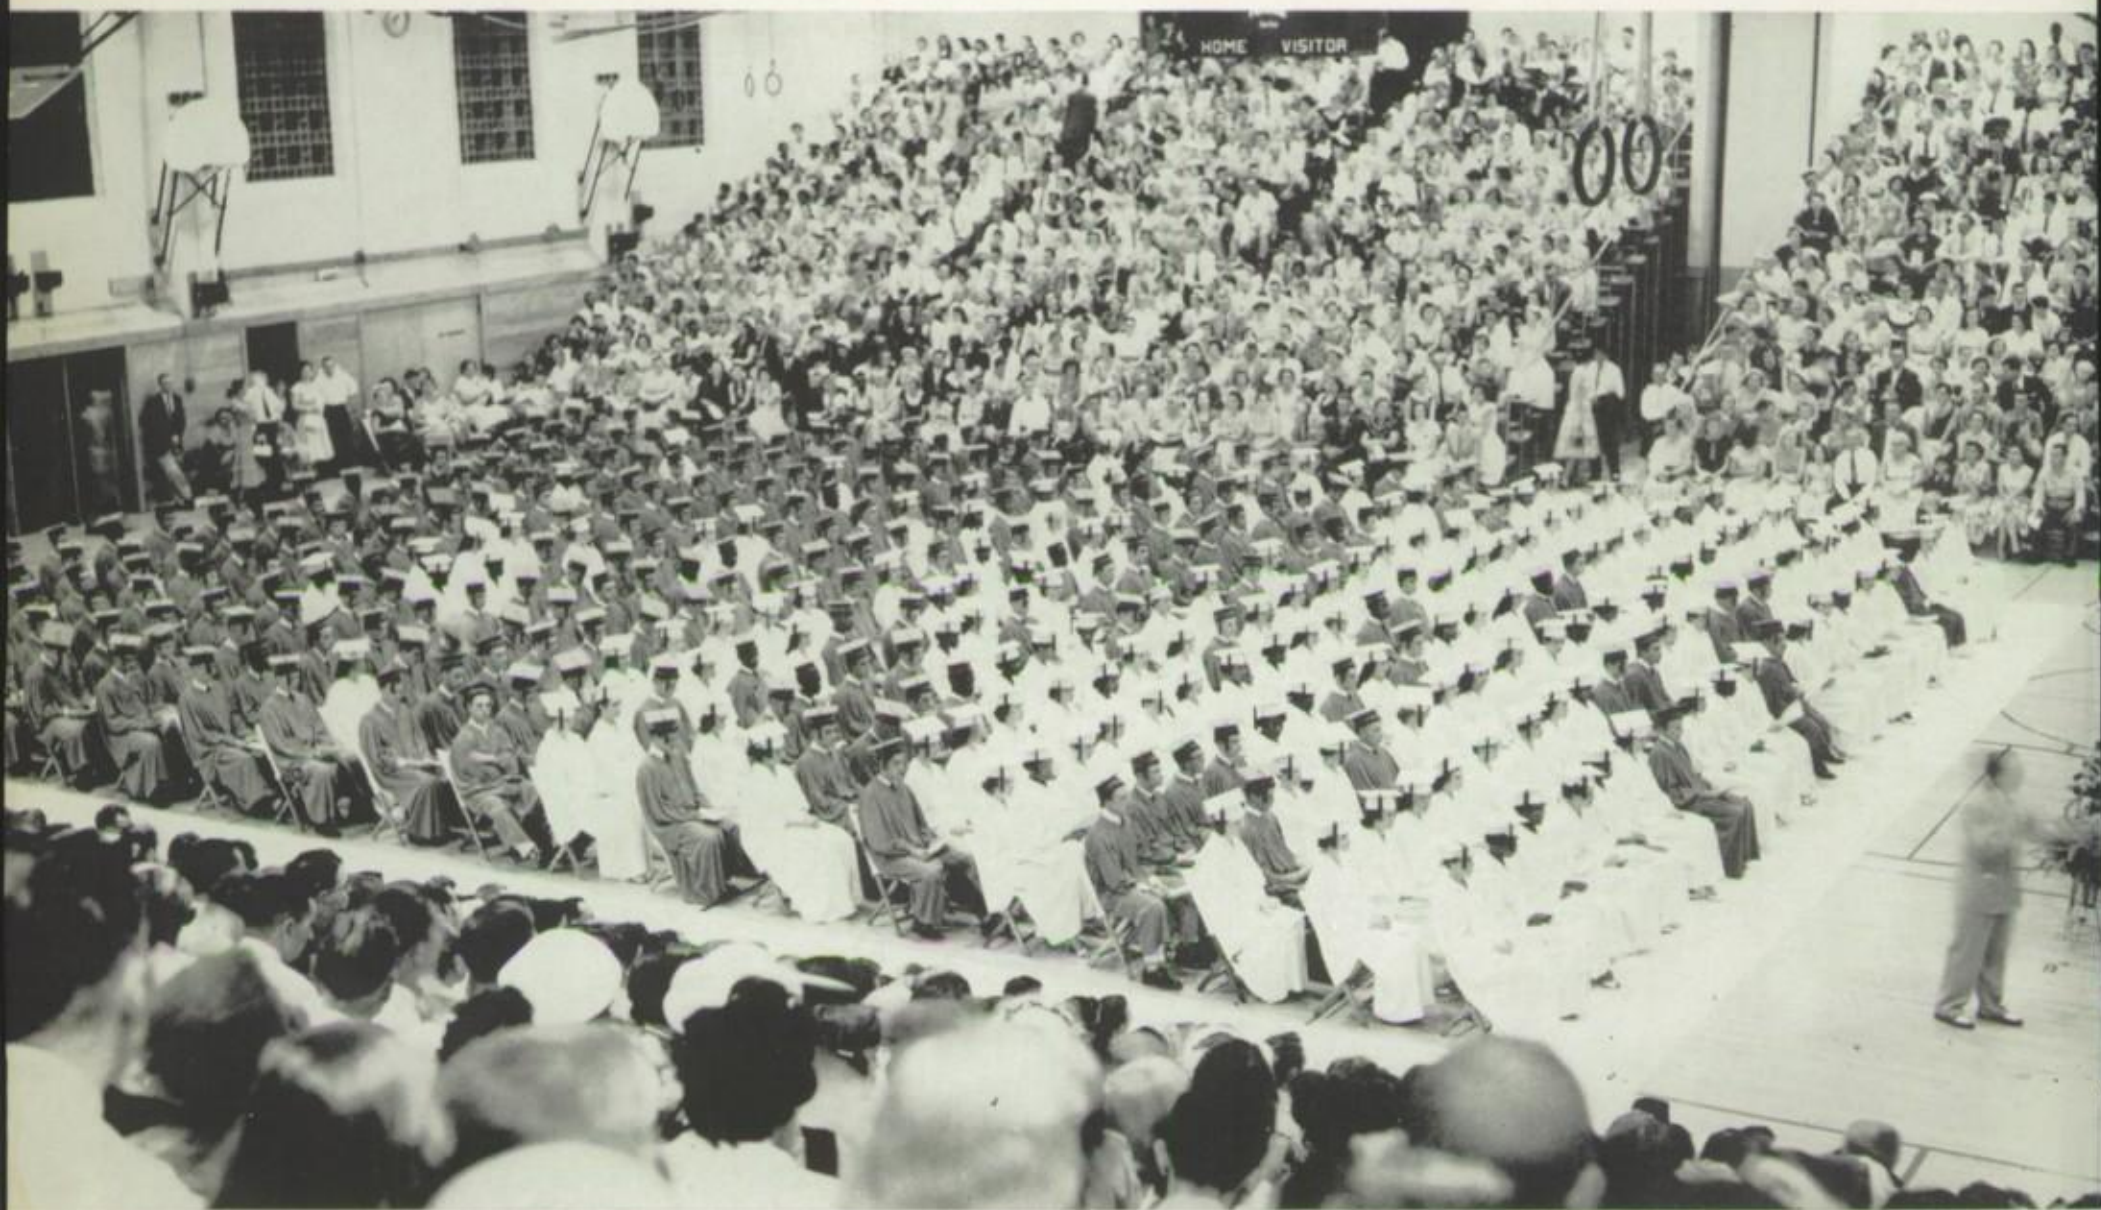

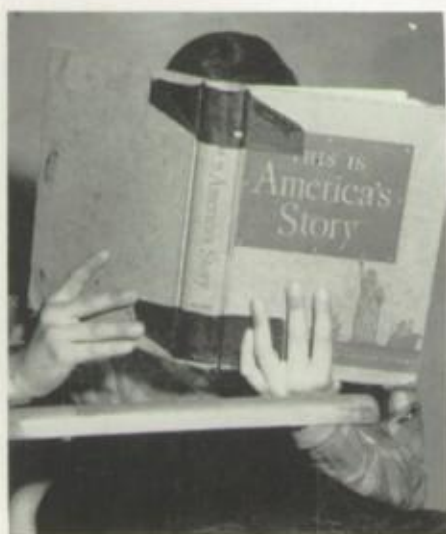

our Spirit of fellowship

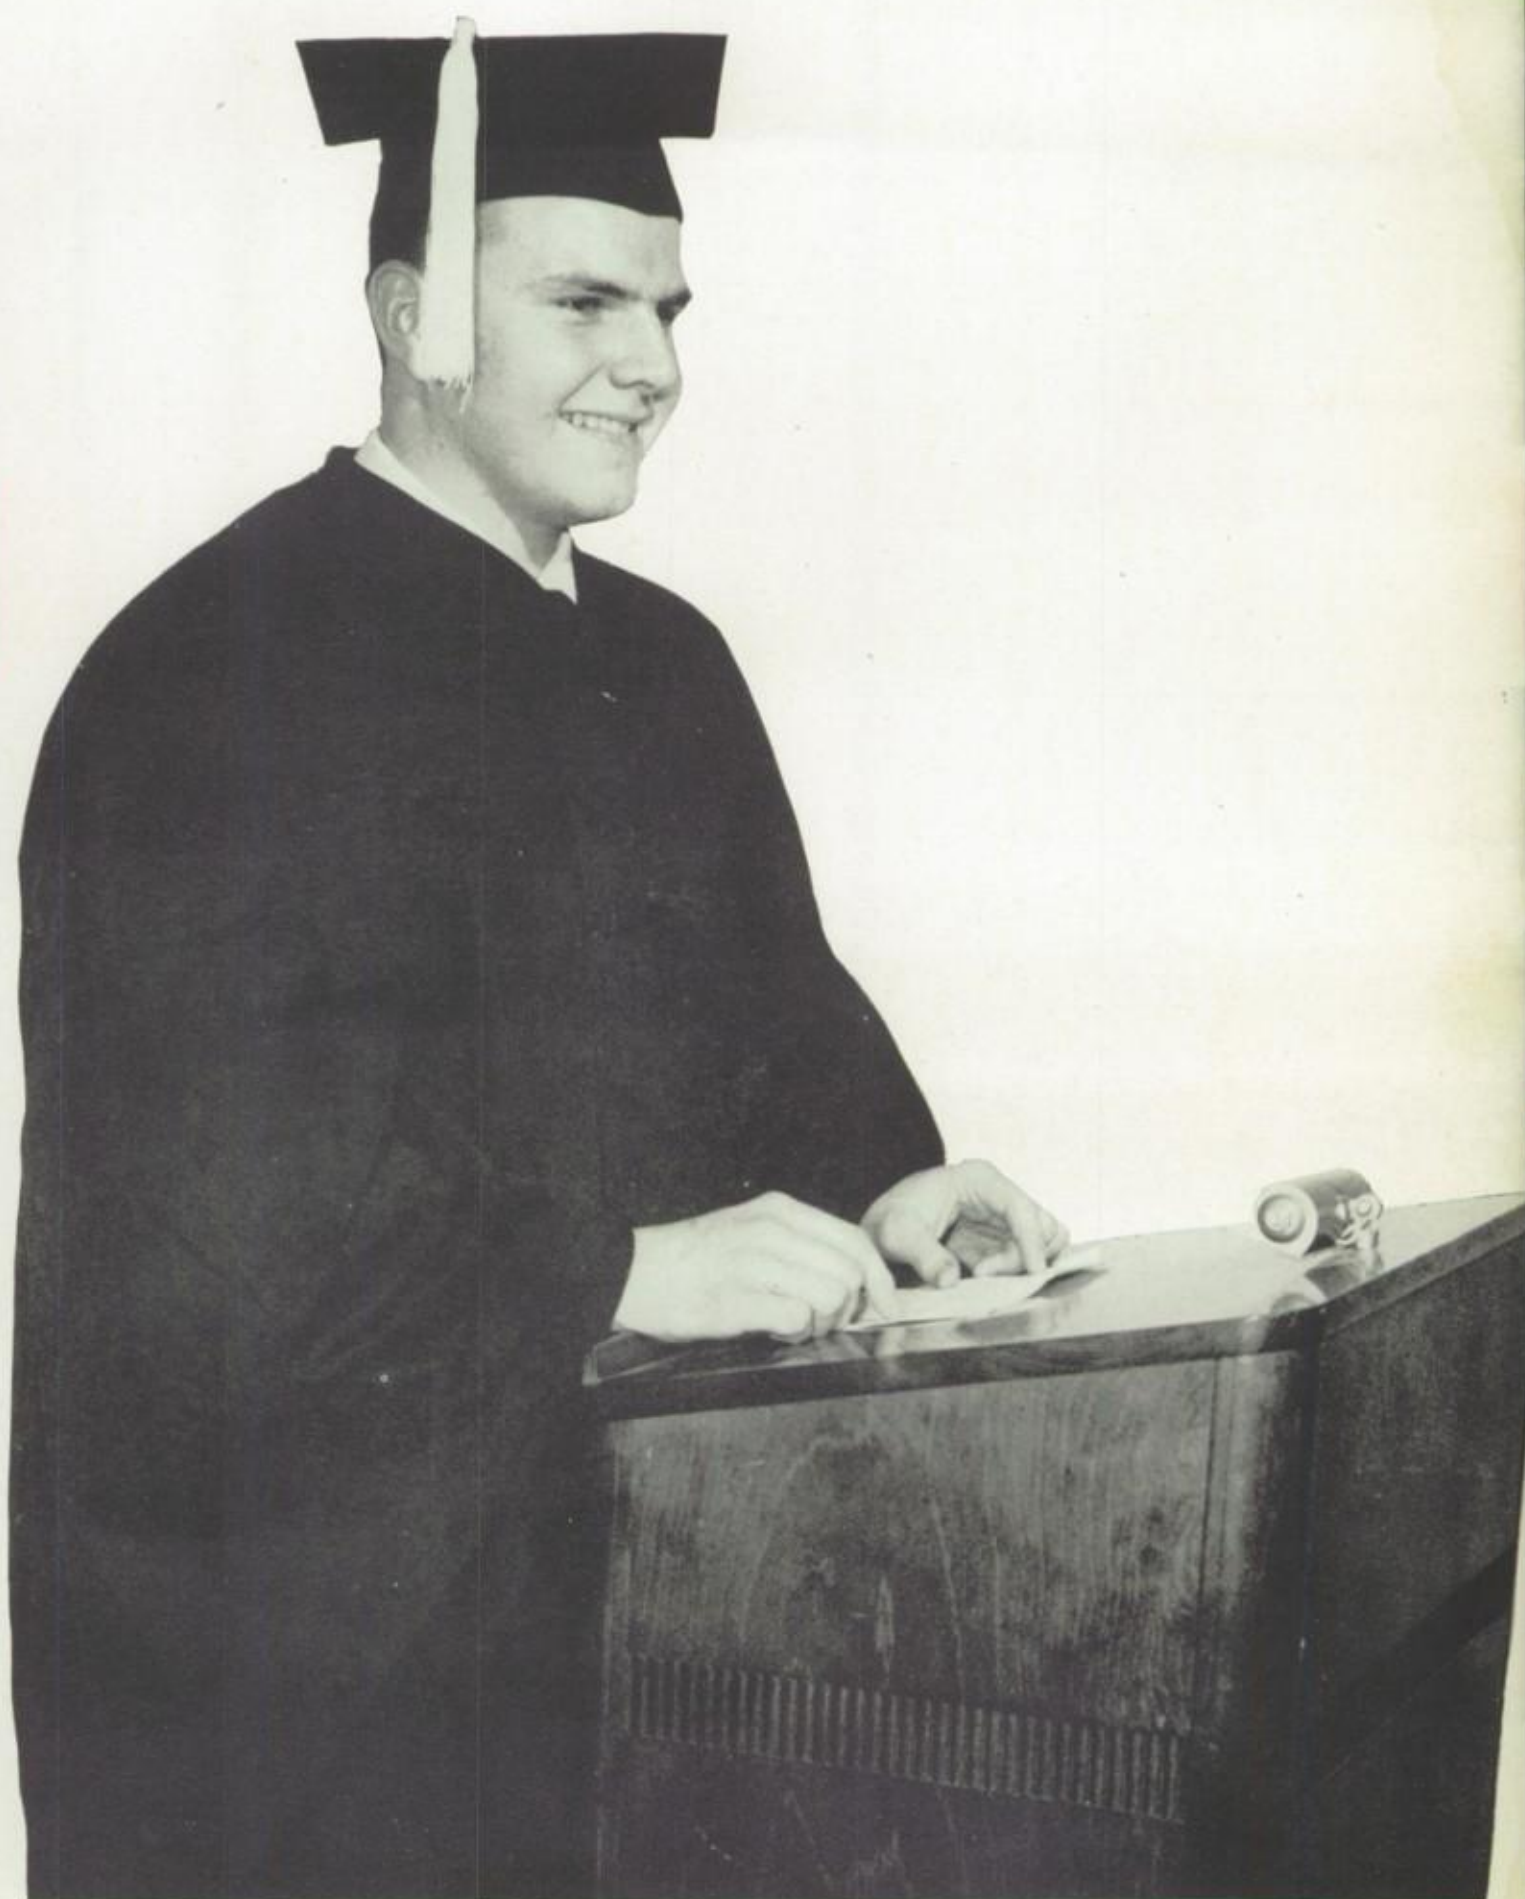

is unsurpassed

As we finish another year, we believe that we have experienced greater fellowship, because our advances in all fields are born of this spirit of fellowship. Our common goals have shown us the rewards of cooperative action.

the Spirit that is created by achievement

Graduation is the means by which we can achieve the kind of lives we want to live. To graduate from high school means that we have graduated countless times before in class assignments, shop projects, and in doing more than was asked, and in observing common courtesy.

In all branches of high school activity Centralites have shown that they possess the dedication, the determination and the drive necessary to attain the high goals which American youth always set for themselves. These pages attempt to document the life at Central—to show the spirit which inspires students and leaders to build richer lives.

our leaders set the examples of Spirit at Central

CENTRAL HIGH'S PRINCIPAL

CECIL O. TOWER

Our principal, Mr. C. O. Tower, sets the example for students and teachers to follow by possessing the spirit which alone enables a school such as Central to function effectively. That he realizes the necessity for the cooperation of all is evidenced by his wise delegation of authority in all matters pertaining to the operation of the school.

Mr. Tower demands the best that each student and teacher can offer, and since every individual responds to an expectation of this kind, the resulting spirit is one which generates order and progress.

Students at Central respect Mr. Tower for his sense of humor as well as for his strict adherence to the rules of fair play. With each passing year Mr. Tower may well look with satisfaction upon the remarkable progress being made by Central under his direction.

Presenting awards on Class Day is a gratifying experience for Mr. Tower after a busy year as Central's Principal.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

MRS. RUTH LAPE

Assistant Principal, in charge of Pupil Personnel

MR. THOMAS PEIRANO

Assistant Principal, in charge of Teacher Personnel

To operate the ambitious program at Central High School requires the service of two assistant principals. Mrs. Ruth Lape handles such matters as assembly programs, extra-curricular activities, and pupil programs and records. Mr. Thomas Peirano sees to the smooth functioning of the physical plant as well as all matters pertaining to the faculty members, office staff, and custodial personnel.

Mr. Anderson Owens is counselor for the seventh and eighth grades; Mr. Paul Nabors, ninth grade; Mr. August Franecki, tenth grade; Mrs. Meta Howard, eleventh grade; and Mrs. Edna Rehkamp, twelfth grade.

MRS. BETTY WRIGHT
Secretary in Charge

Few would argue the fact that Central High School's secretarial staff does one of the most efficient jobs of its kind anywhere. The spirit of friendliness and cooperation with which each member approaches her job is one of the most gratifying experiences any student or teacher can have in the Central family. Mrs. Betty Wright, secretary to Mr. Tower, sees that all secretarial functions are well coordinated. Mrs. Jo Ann (Proffitt) Cundiff, Mrs. Lape's secretary, maintains order in the chaotic job of handling students' records, while Mrs. Irma Merkle, Mr. Peirano's secretary, handles the myriad of details connected with the functioning of the staff and building.

Miss Janet Kolde, secretary to the coordinator keeps the affairs in order for the senior co-op students. The job of Mrs. Marian Schardine as secretary to the counselors involves countless contacts with students who attest her helpfulness. Another person in this category is Miss Margie Schamer, attendance secretary, who handles all class cuts. Miss Marcella Prows assists both Mr. Roman and Mr. Lund in the many details of their offices. A special secretary for the Practical Nursing Department is Miss Maureen Thesken, who competently performs the duties of this office. Miss Ruth Woolley, our financial secretary, is responsible for the exacting job of accounting for every penny that is officially channelled through Central High School.

ALLIED CONSTRUCTION

In Cincinnati the Allied Construction industry is a thriving part of our local business. Its object is to train students in the field of millroom practice, patternmaking, cabinet making, and carpentry.

At the present time there are three shops: one basic shop, one pattern shop, and one advanced shop. During the basic shop training period, Central High School students are taught the fundamentals of the woodworking trades. In the eleventh grade the students specialize in one of the above-mentioned fields. While in the twelfth grade, the boys co-op in the local construction and allied industries in Cincinnati.

After graduation some of these students will remain at their jobs. Some of the students' employers are graduates of Central.

Mr. Bartels shows Ron Larkin how to rip tenons in woodshop.

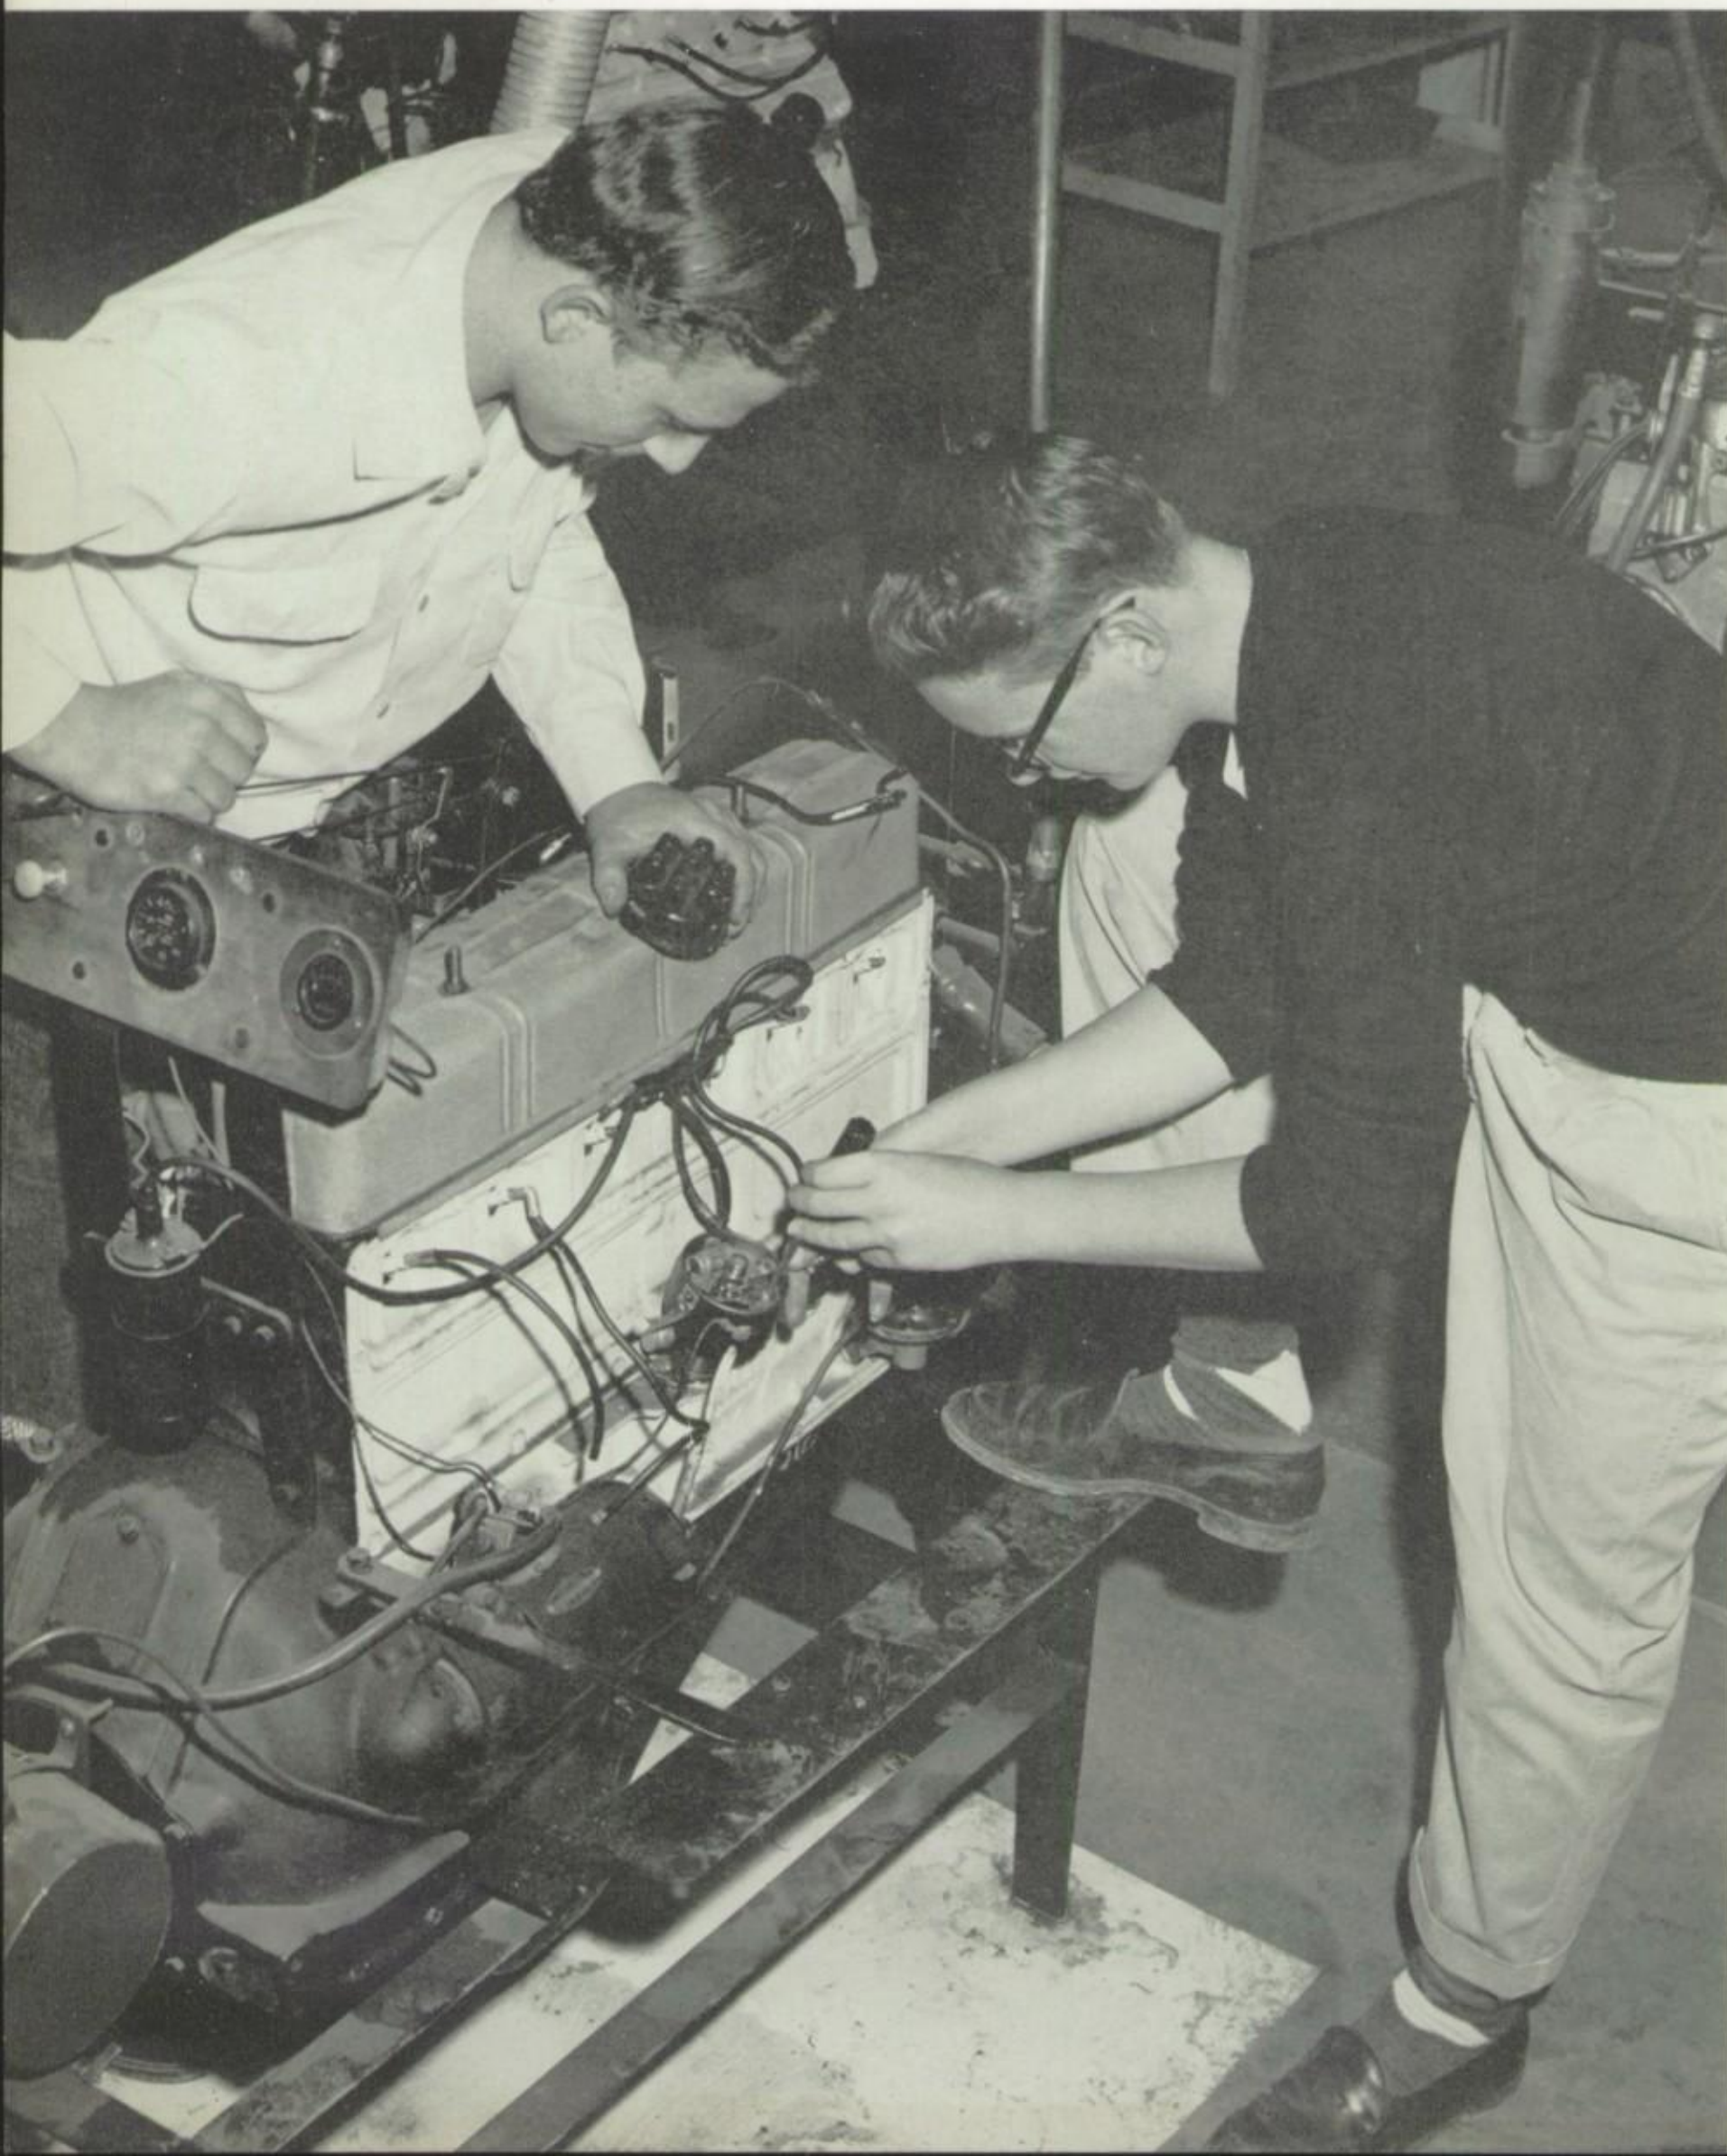

OPPOSITE PAGE: George Young examines a finished fruit bowl as Willie Sykes roughs out the shape of a bowl between centers of the lathe.

AUTOMOTIVE

Charles Schmolt and Vern Rose check the ignition timing of a Chevrolet "6."

Robert Calhoun, Sam Massengale and John Smith test brake horsepower on a DJXB Hercules diesel engine.

Mr. Winters instructs James Lovitt and Tony Davenport on the testing of fuel lines.

The course of study for the Automotive Department was planned to provide the background for a wide variety of possible types of employment in the automotive industry such as auto mechanic, body repair mechanic, parts and accessories clerk, auto salesman, etc.

While students are required to familiarize themselves with all phases of the industry, some specialization is encouraged particularly if the student has demonstrated a special aptitude for the work.

Approximately one hundred students register in their junior year for the Automotive Department. The Cincinnati Automobile Dealers' Association has been exceedingly cooperative in encouraging its members to give our students on-the-job training during their senior year. Each year the C.A.D.A. has generously awarded three valuable prizes of tool sets for the three top automotive students.

Most Central students in the automotive field have had at least one semester's work in internal combustion engines during the ninth or tenth year, before entering the department in their junior year. In the eleventh and twelfth years the courses are automatically prescribed with the student being placed in one of the shops of the various dealers, independent garage operators, service stations, or parts departments. Co-ops earn approximately $35 per week.

Parts of an aircraft engine are inspected by Thomas Braumn, Ronald Brady, and Bill Klayer in aviation class.

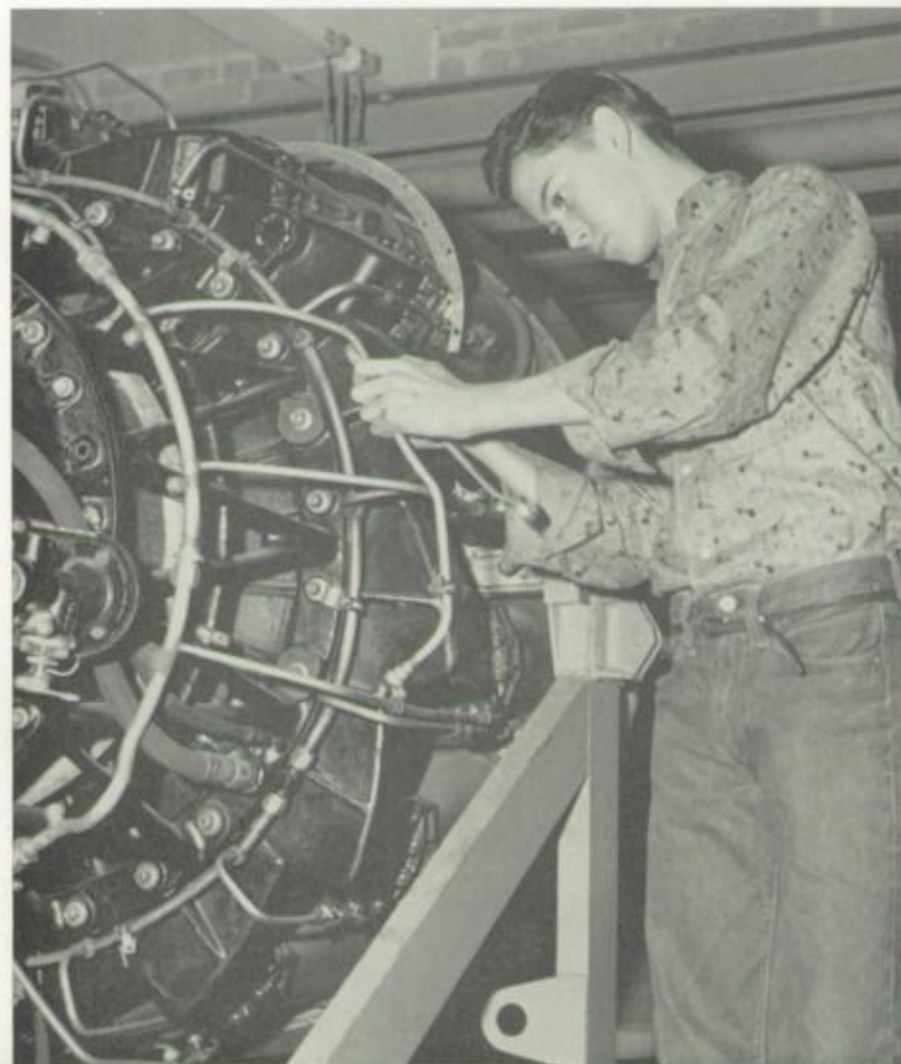

AVIATION

As in other departments, students of the Aviation Department co-op in the twelfth year. The aviation sciences are a critical part of the training in this department, and the instruction is carried on by licensed instructors. Although flight training is not a part of our curriculum, many students enter this phase of the industry.

Instructors in the Aviation Department must hold Certificates of Proficiency (issued by the Federal Government) in their subject in addition to the regular teacher's certificate. The student receives his technical training and practice in skills through specially-equipped laboratories and shops. To add realism and provide broader in-school experience, the boys maintain a flyable airplane and operate a radio station through the Aero-Radio Club.

Because of the highly technical nature of aviation, the educational background of the students of this department must be based principally upon science, mathematics, and the technical information relating to this field. In addition to pure mechanical know-how, the graduate of this department, in order to successfully master his trade, must have a working knowledge of aerodynamics, meteorology, and power plant principles. Graduates of the Central Aviation Department are employed in most of the local airports.

Al Witt installs fuel lines on a J-33 jet engine.

COMMERCIAL ART

A new addition to the curriculum at Central is the Art program. Under this new program students may elect a three-hour art shop in their junior and senior year.

In this shop will be done the art production jobs such as posters, murals, bill-board signs, and silk screen work. Thus, students will learn these skills demanded in the commercial art field by actually doing related production. Such well known items as the Sweetheart Dance table decorations and the J-Day place mats were silk-screened by these students.

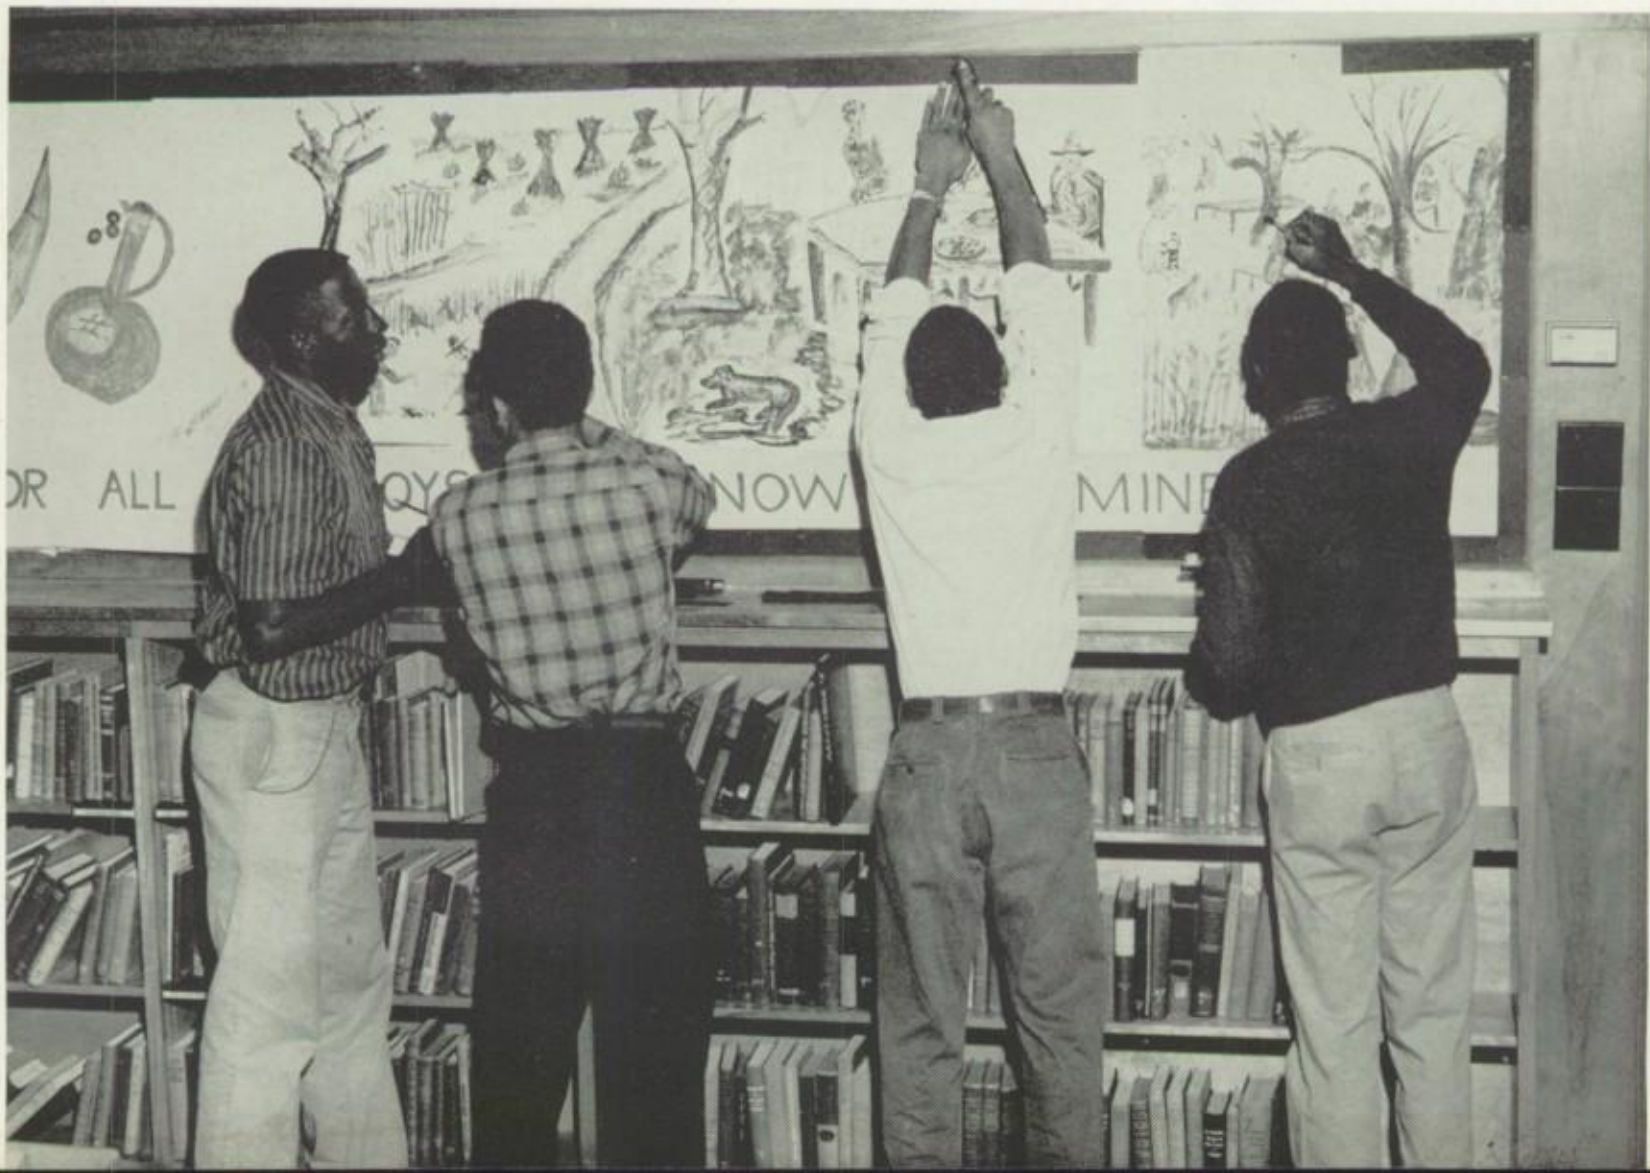

Equipment in this new shop already includes a screen process press, a cut awl, a sign machine and an enameling kiln. Next year more extensive work will be done with industrial applications of ceramics and enameling.

Under the direction of Mr. Etling and Mrs. Maithre all of the attractive display cases in the school are kept current and colorful. An extensive picture morgue is kept for this purpose.

Art students complete their Christmas display window in front hall.

Students in Mr. Etling's commercial art class put finishing touches on the frieze they have prepared for the library.

Matilda Hathaway operates the National Posting Machine in the bookkeeping course.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Joan Edeler and Carol Middendorf operate the Comptometer, a vital part of the business education program.

Central's Commercial Department provides a specialized education for girls and boys who wish to prepare for employment in the many business offices of the city.

All the subjects offered are of accredited senior high school level. Pupils must meet these qualifications to obtain the type of education required by business: intelligence, physical fitness, health, appearance, and personality.

They receive training for obtaining business jobs in the fields of bookkeeping, general clerical, and secretarial courses. Students in this department co-op in the senior year.

Modern up-to-date office equipment is used in this department. A partial list of the machines used in the instruction of pupils for future jobs is as follows: Calculating and Burroughs Adding Machines, Victor Adding-Listing and Folding Machines, Monroe Calculators, Marchant Calculators, Comptometers, Bookkeeping Addressographs, Dictaphones, Ediphones, Electric Typewriters, Graphotype, VariTypes, Mimeographs, Multigraphs, Multiliths, Sunstrands and Telephone Switchboards.

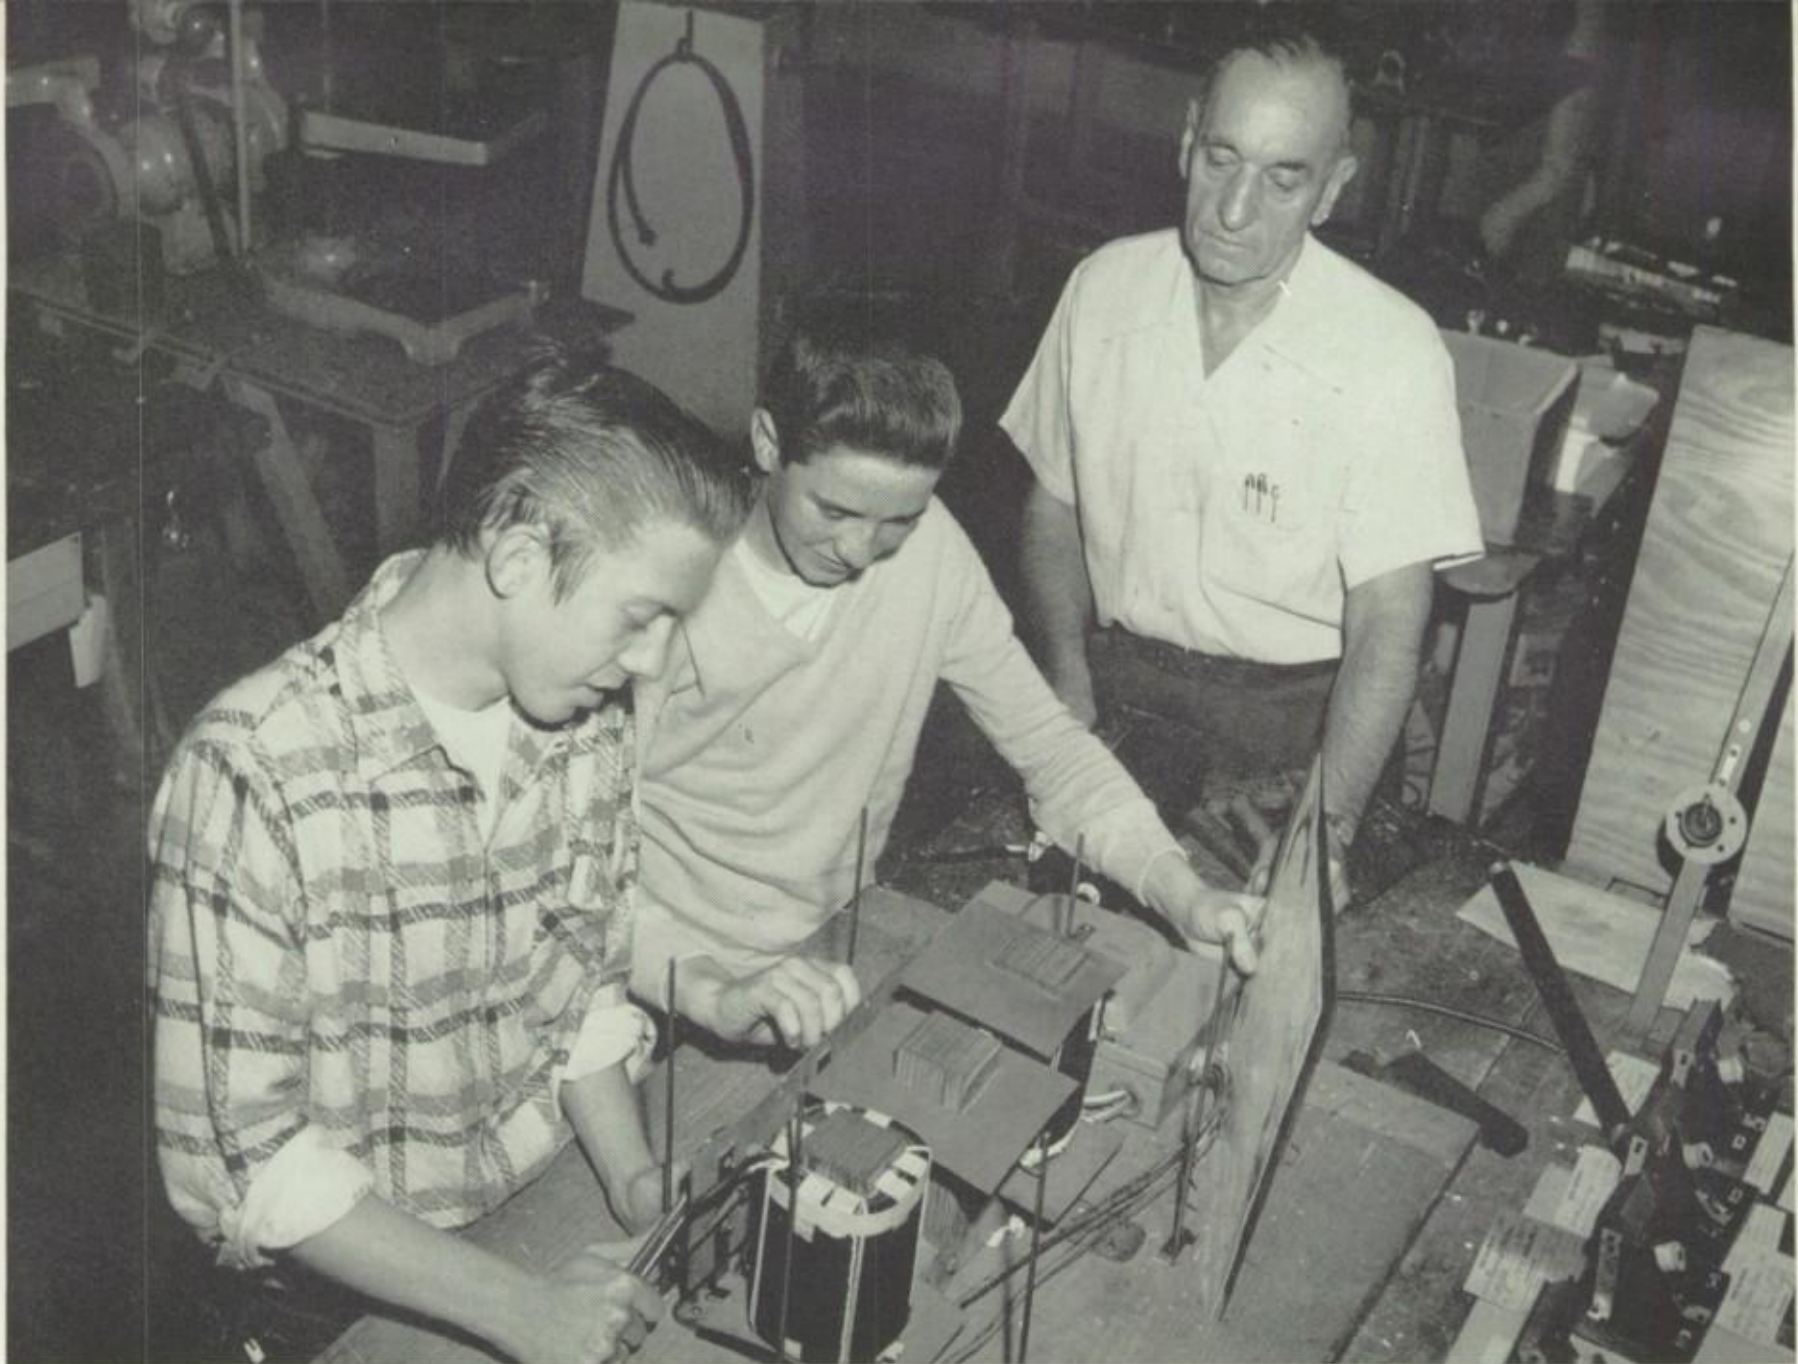

Students in secretarial course transcribe from their notes and the dictaphone.

ELECTRICAL TRADES

Mr. Tuxworth shows Jerry Wilhelm and Dale Hardman how to test a shocker made by one of the students.

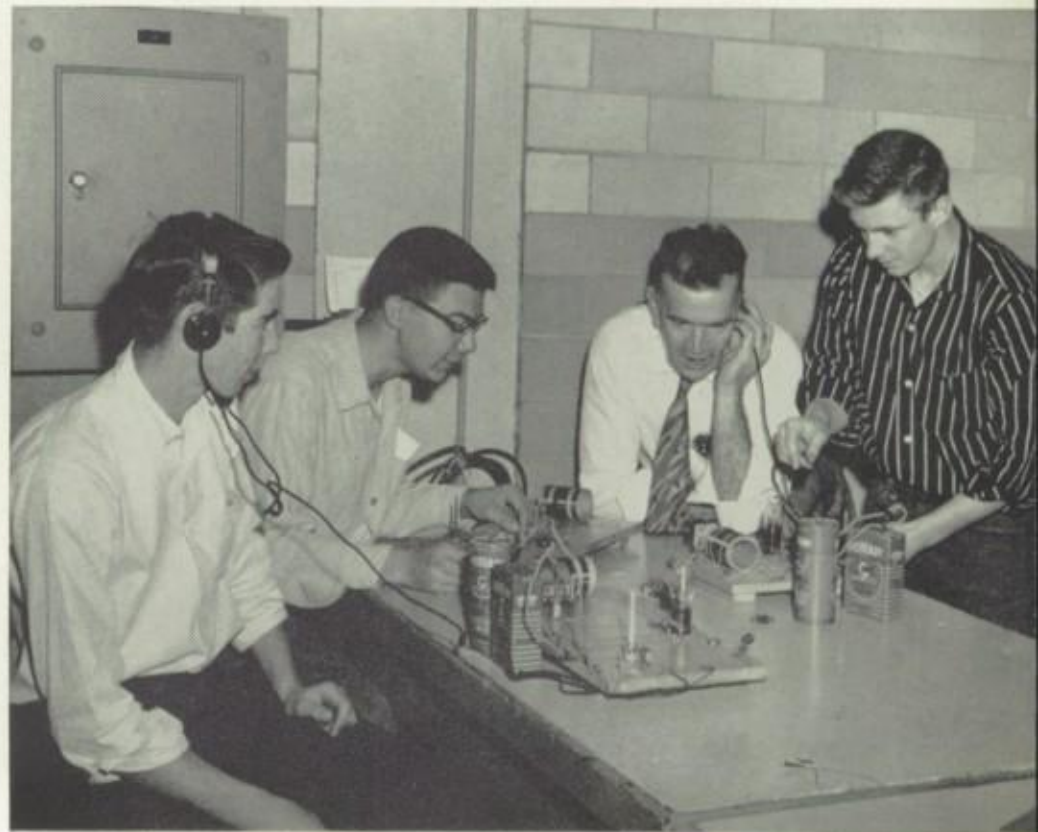

Mr. Sommerlad observes Sam Cullum and Ralph Dietz working on an "open core" transformer.

The Electrical Department has one main objective—to train high school pupils so that they may enter the various branches of the electrical industry. This training shall include the ability to recognize the various common units used in this field, the development of the accepted basic skills, the manner in which the units are constructed, and how and why the apparatus will perform when used separately or in combination during operation.

Installation, maintenance, manufacturing, and construction are concerned with this type of employment. Continued employment in any one of the above divisions will lead to a highly skilled and specialized workman, happy in the electrical field.

In the twelfth grade, students co-op in some branch of the electrical field. Twelve credits are needed before a boy may start co-oping. Some boys continue on their job after graduation.

Mr. Hoffman aids his students in testing radio receivers.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

At Central the Distributive Education Department trains its students for retailing and industrial selling jobs. The skills learned by the students are: advertising, cashier, wrapping, display, marking, shipping, selling, and personnel.

These skills are learned in classes of merchandise information, retailing, salesmanship, analysis, and display art. Students handle the displays as part of display art for the school. In the eleventh grade retailing students operate the student store. Here they receive basic training in selling Central students school supplies and other things.

Distributive Education students in the twelfth grade, co-op in specialty and department stores in jobs which are fitted to their ability. The requirements a student must meet are: a good personality and character, a general educational background, plus the retail skill.

Retailing offers promotional opportunities to the well qualified in executive jobs of buying, advertising, and display.

Mary Korte is making change for Ed Spiegel in Principles of Retailing course.

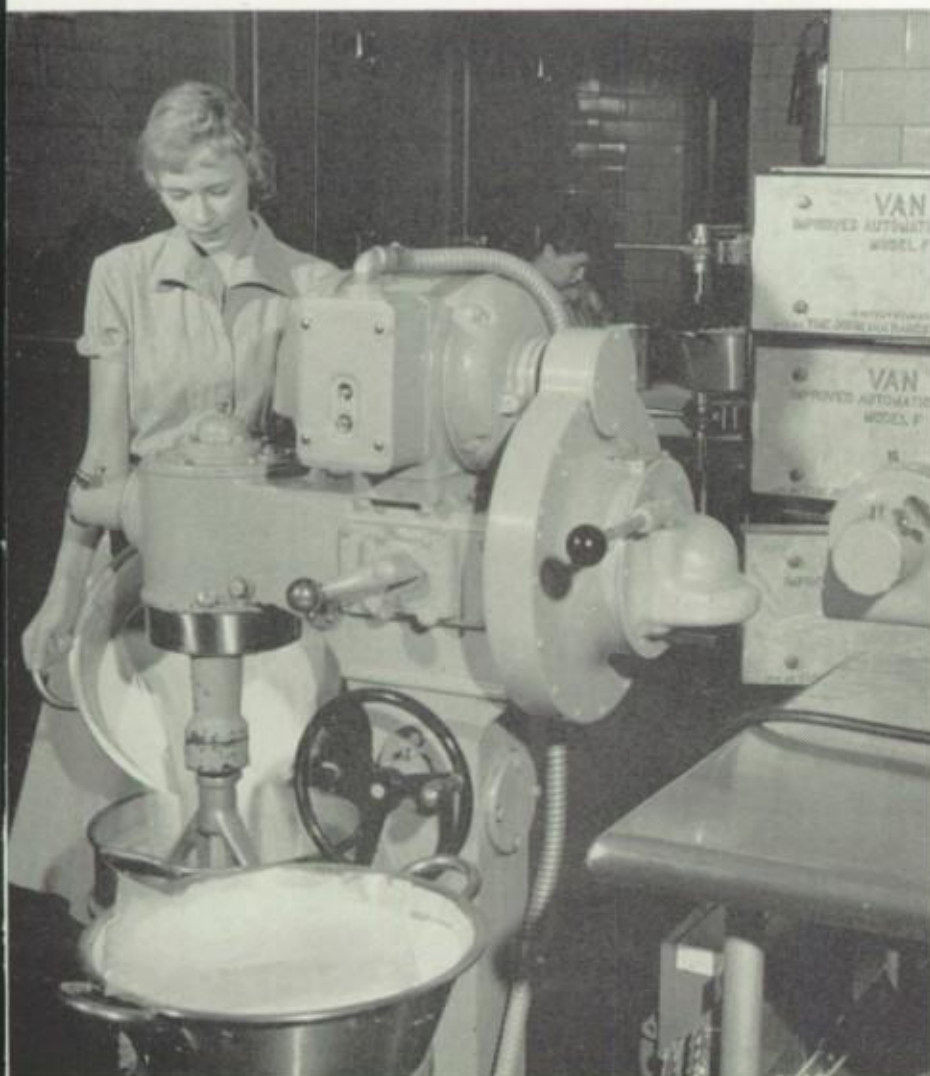

For Merchandising Analysis class students present a demonstration sale.

Miss Lipsky instructs foods class in the location and selection of various cuts of meat.

COMMERCIAL FOODS

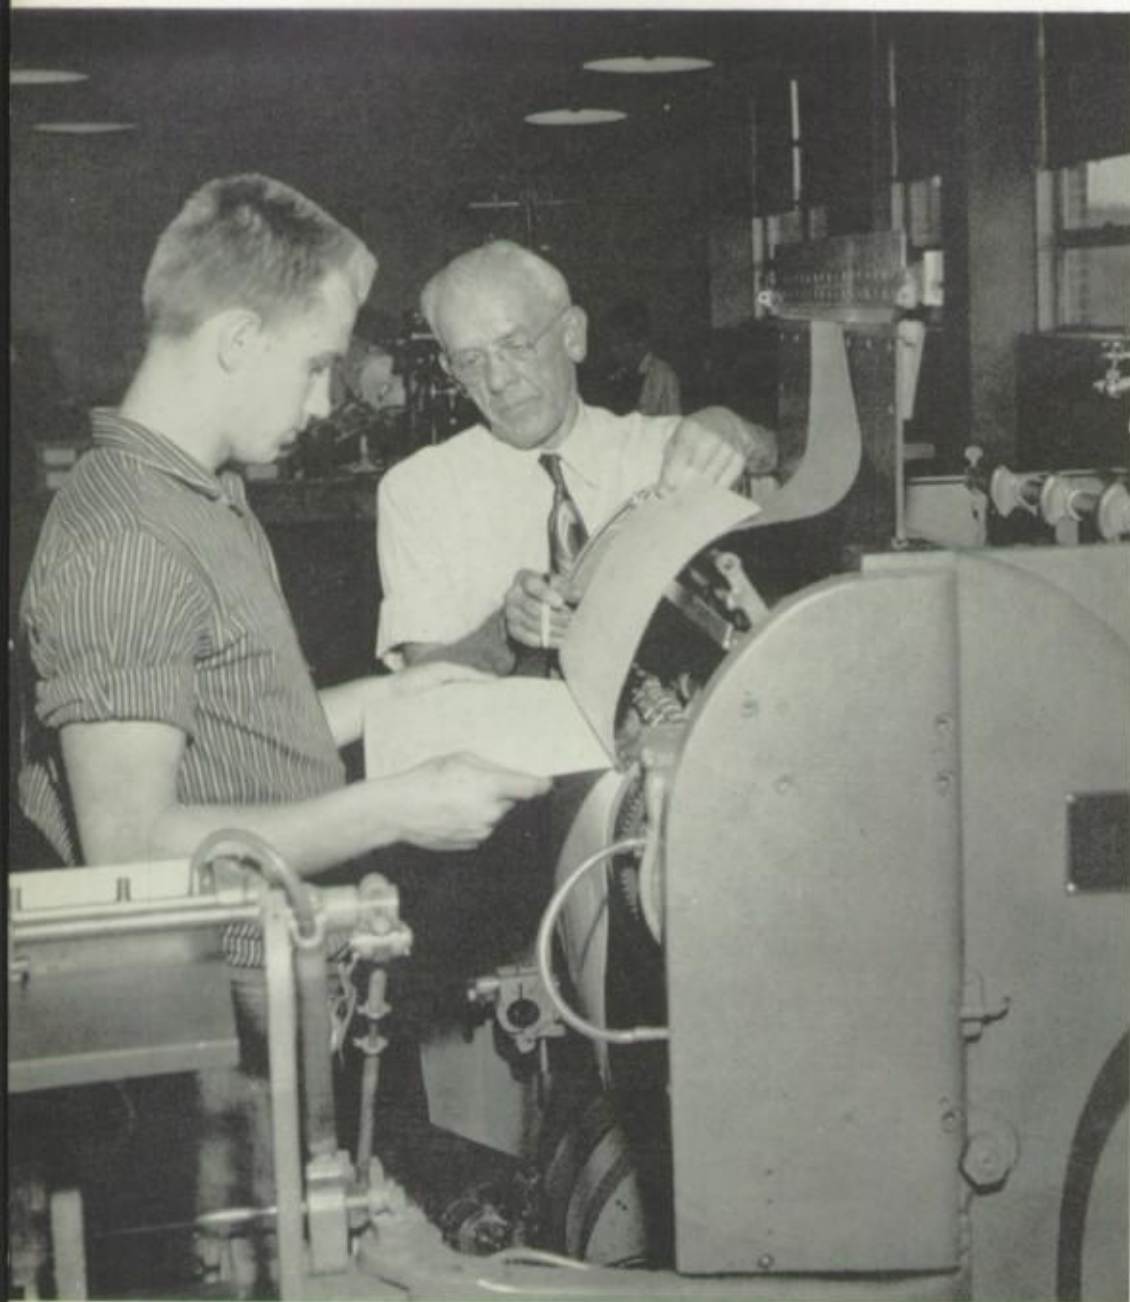

Carole Konrad mixes a cake in commercial foods course.

The Commercial Foods program has the newest shop at Central High School. The program is set up to train students in various phases of the food service trade, with special emphases on cooking and baking. The food is prepared in large quantities so the student gets a true picture of what food service work is like. This food is served in the student lunchroom or to special groups. A wide selection in types of work is offered. This program is organized to prepare students for the kind of commercial food service that they are interested in.

Co-op students are employed in bake shops, tea rooms, hospital cafeterias, and other eating establishments throughout the city.

This year we were hosts of the Stewards' and Caterers' Association meeting, which was held in November.

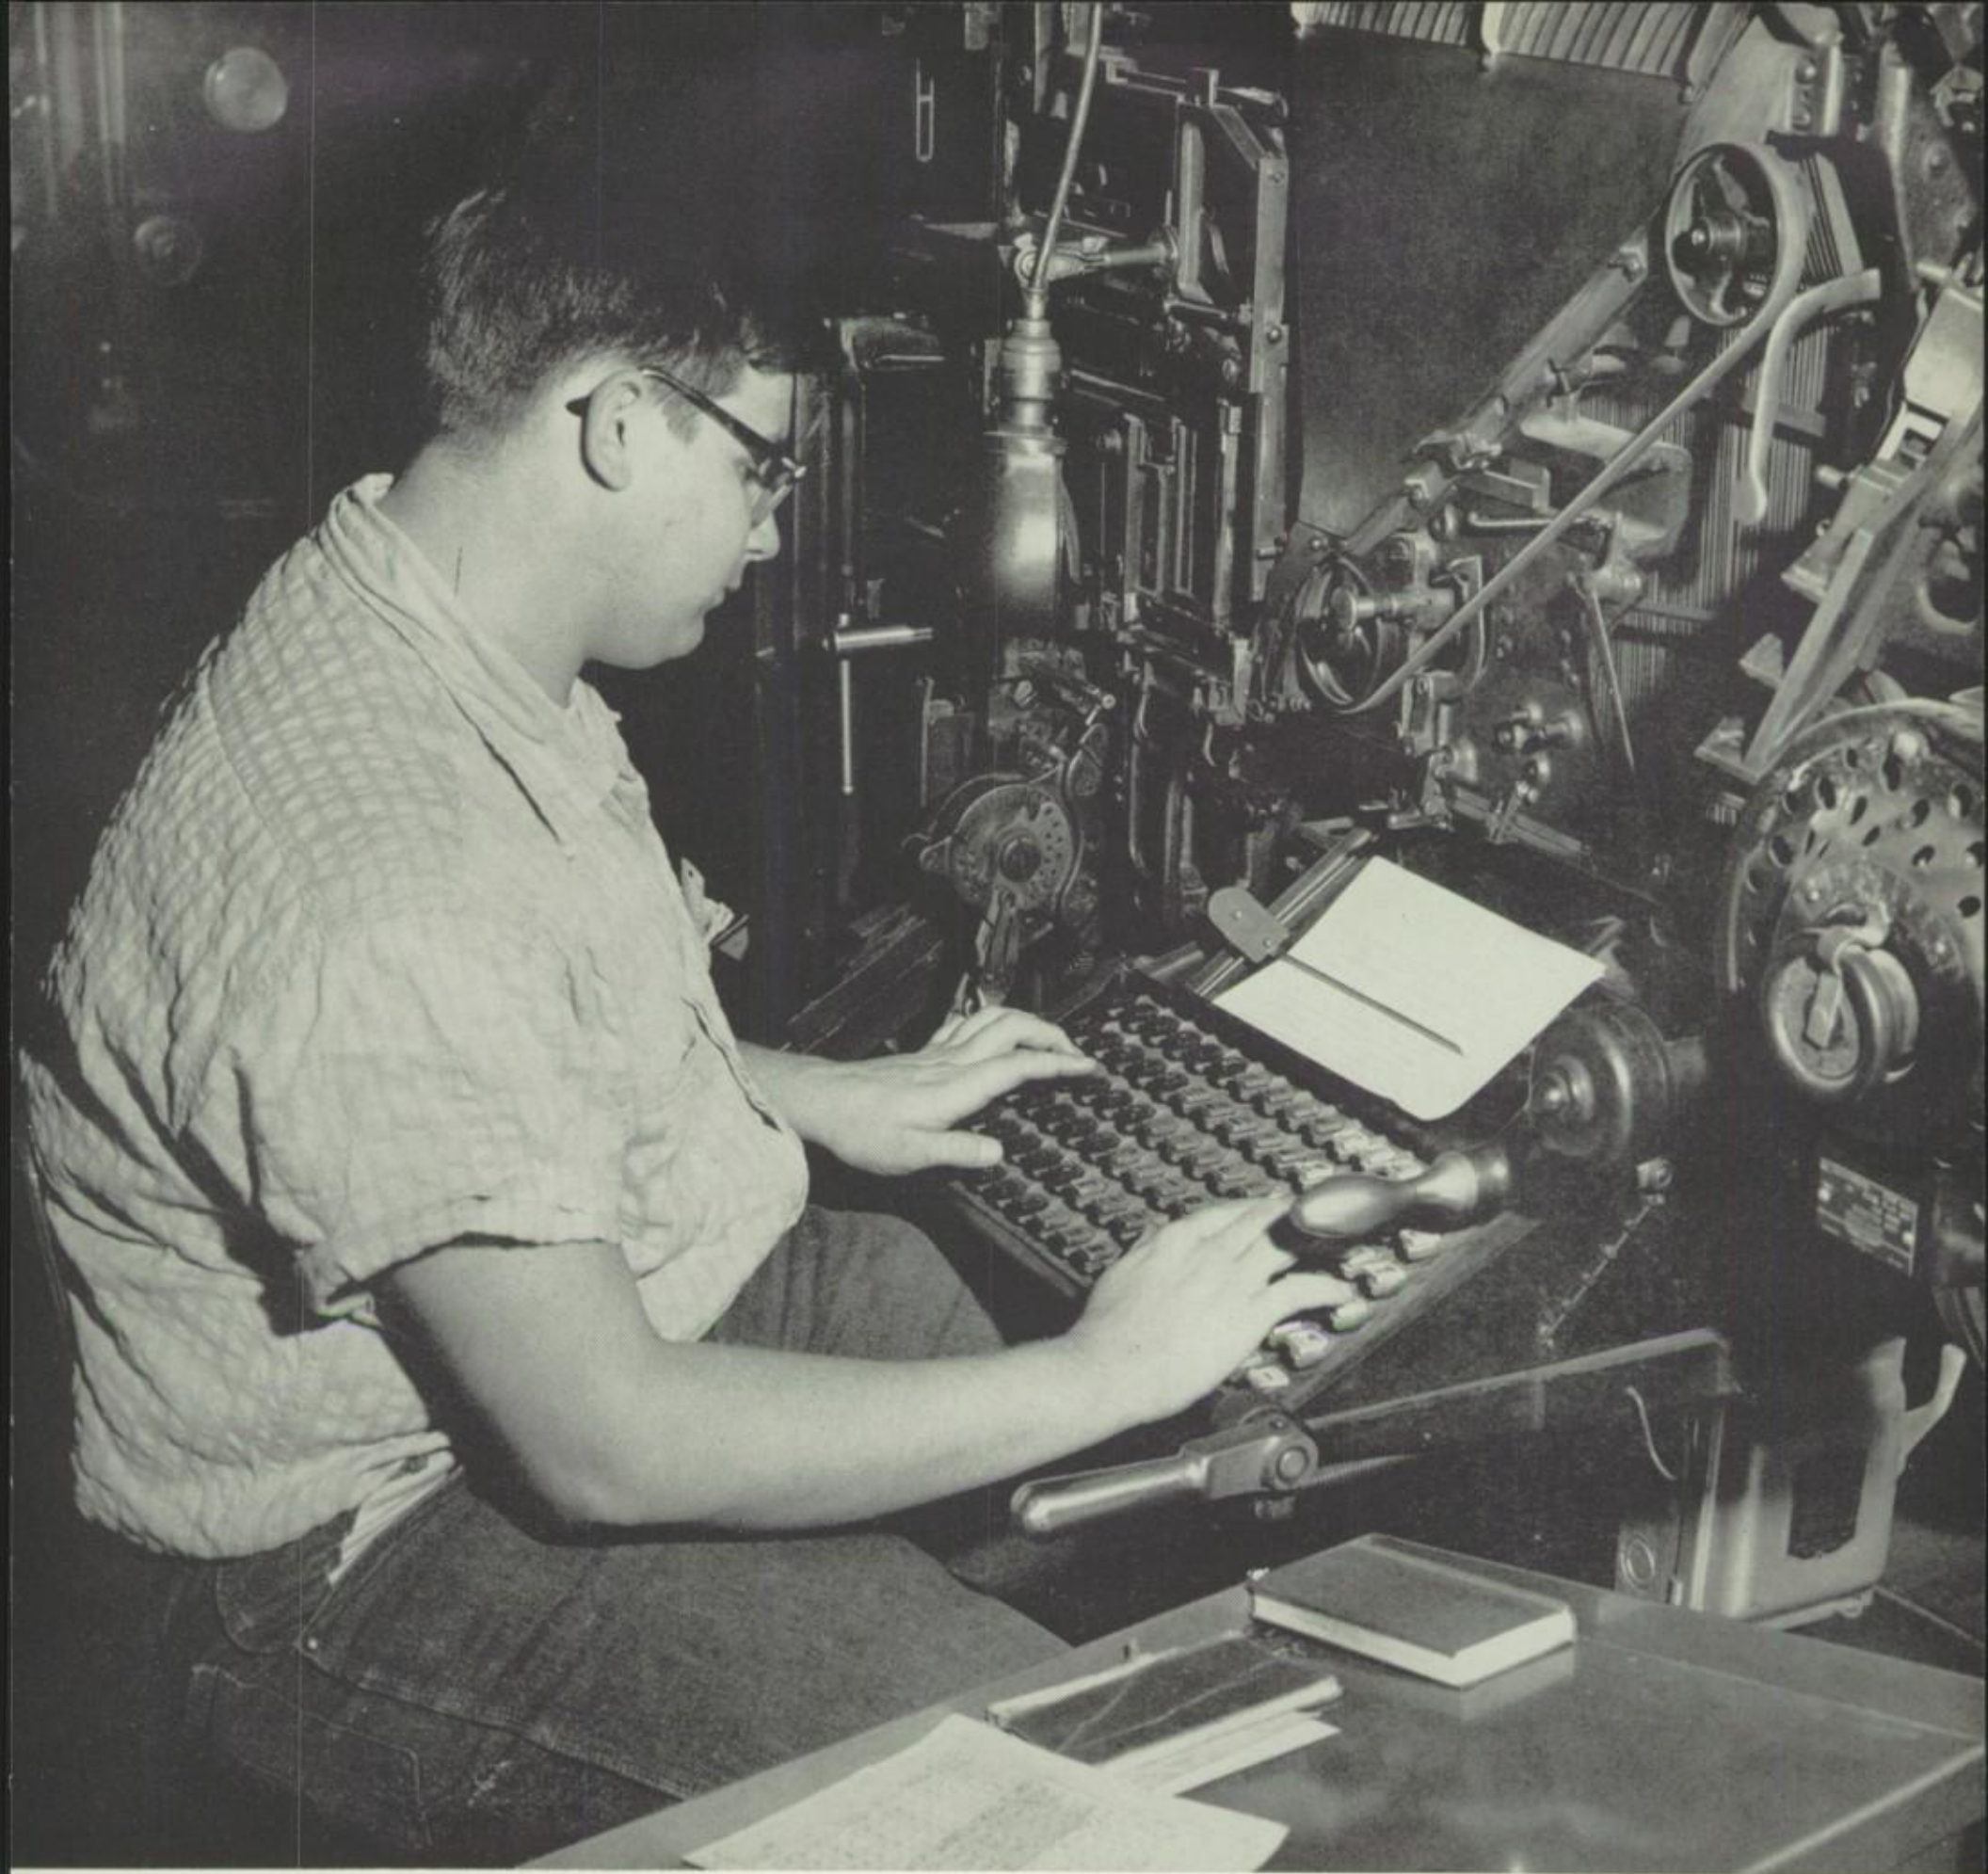

GRAPHIC ARTS

Among the many fields which are offered at Central High School is that of Graphic Arts. In this department students are trained in such areas as: elementary hand composition, elementary presswork, advanced hand composition, advanced presswork, bindery, monotype keyboard and caster operation, linotype operation, and photolithography.

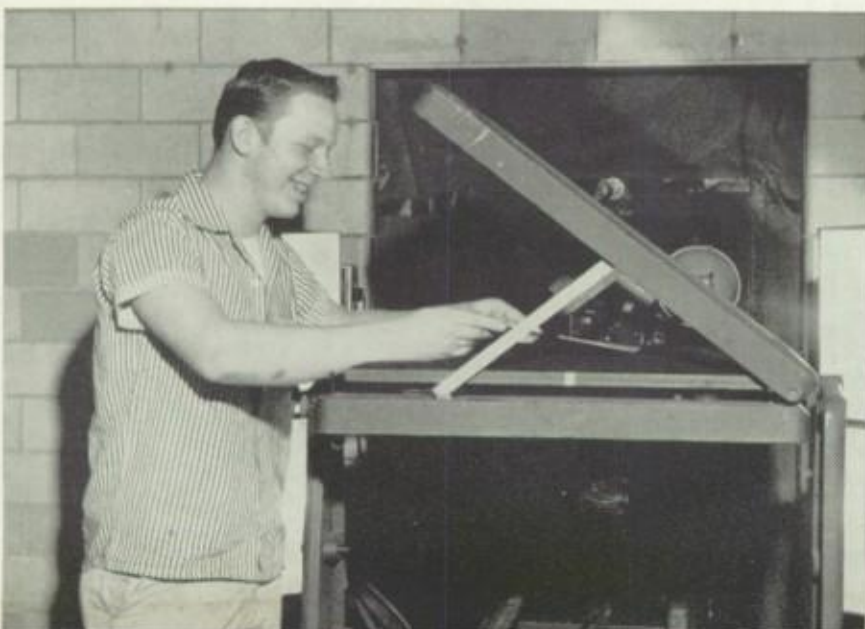

When these students are in their senior year they are placed on co-op jobs in the various print shops in the Greater Cincinnati area. The twenty-seven employers who are helping to train our forty-seven printing seniors this year may be assured that these students are well prepared for their jobs because they are under the guidance of teachers who are well-qualified craftsmen in their fields.

Ninth and tenth grade students learn to master the fundamentals of hand composition.

Jim Nichols mounts copy to be photographed by the process camera.

NEEDLE TRADES

Tailoring, trade embroidery, power sewing, and dressmaking are offered by the Needle Trades Department. In addition to these four specialized fields, a student can also learn how to spot and press men's and women's garments, make alternations and repairs, and learn methods of properly marking garments to be cleaned.

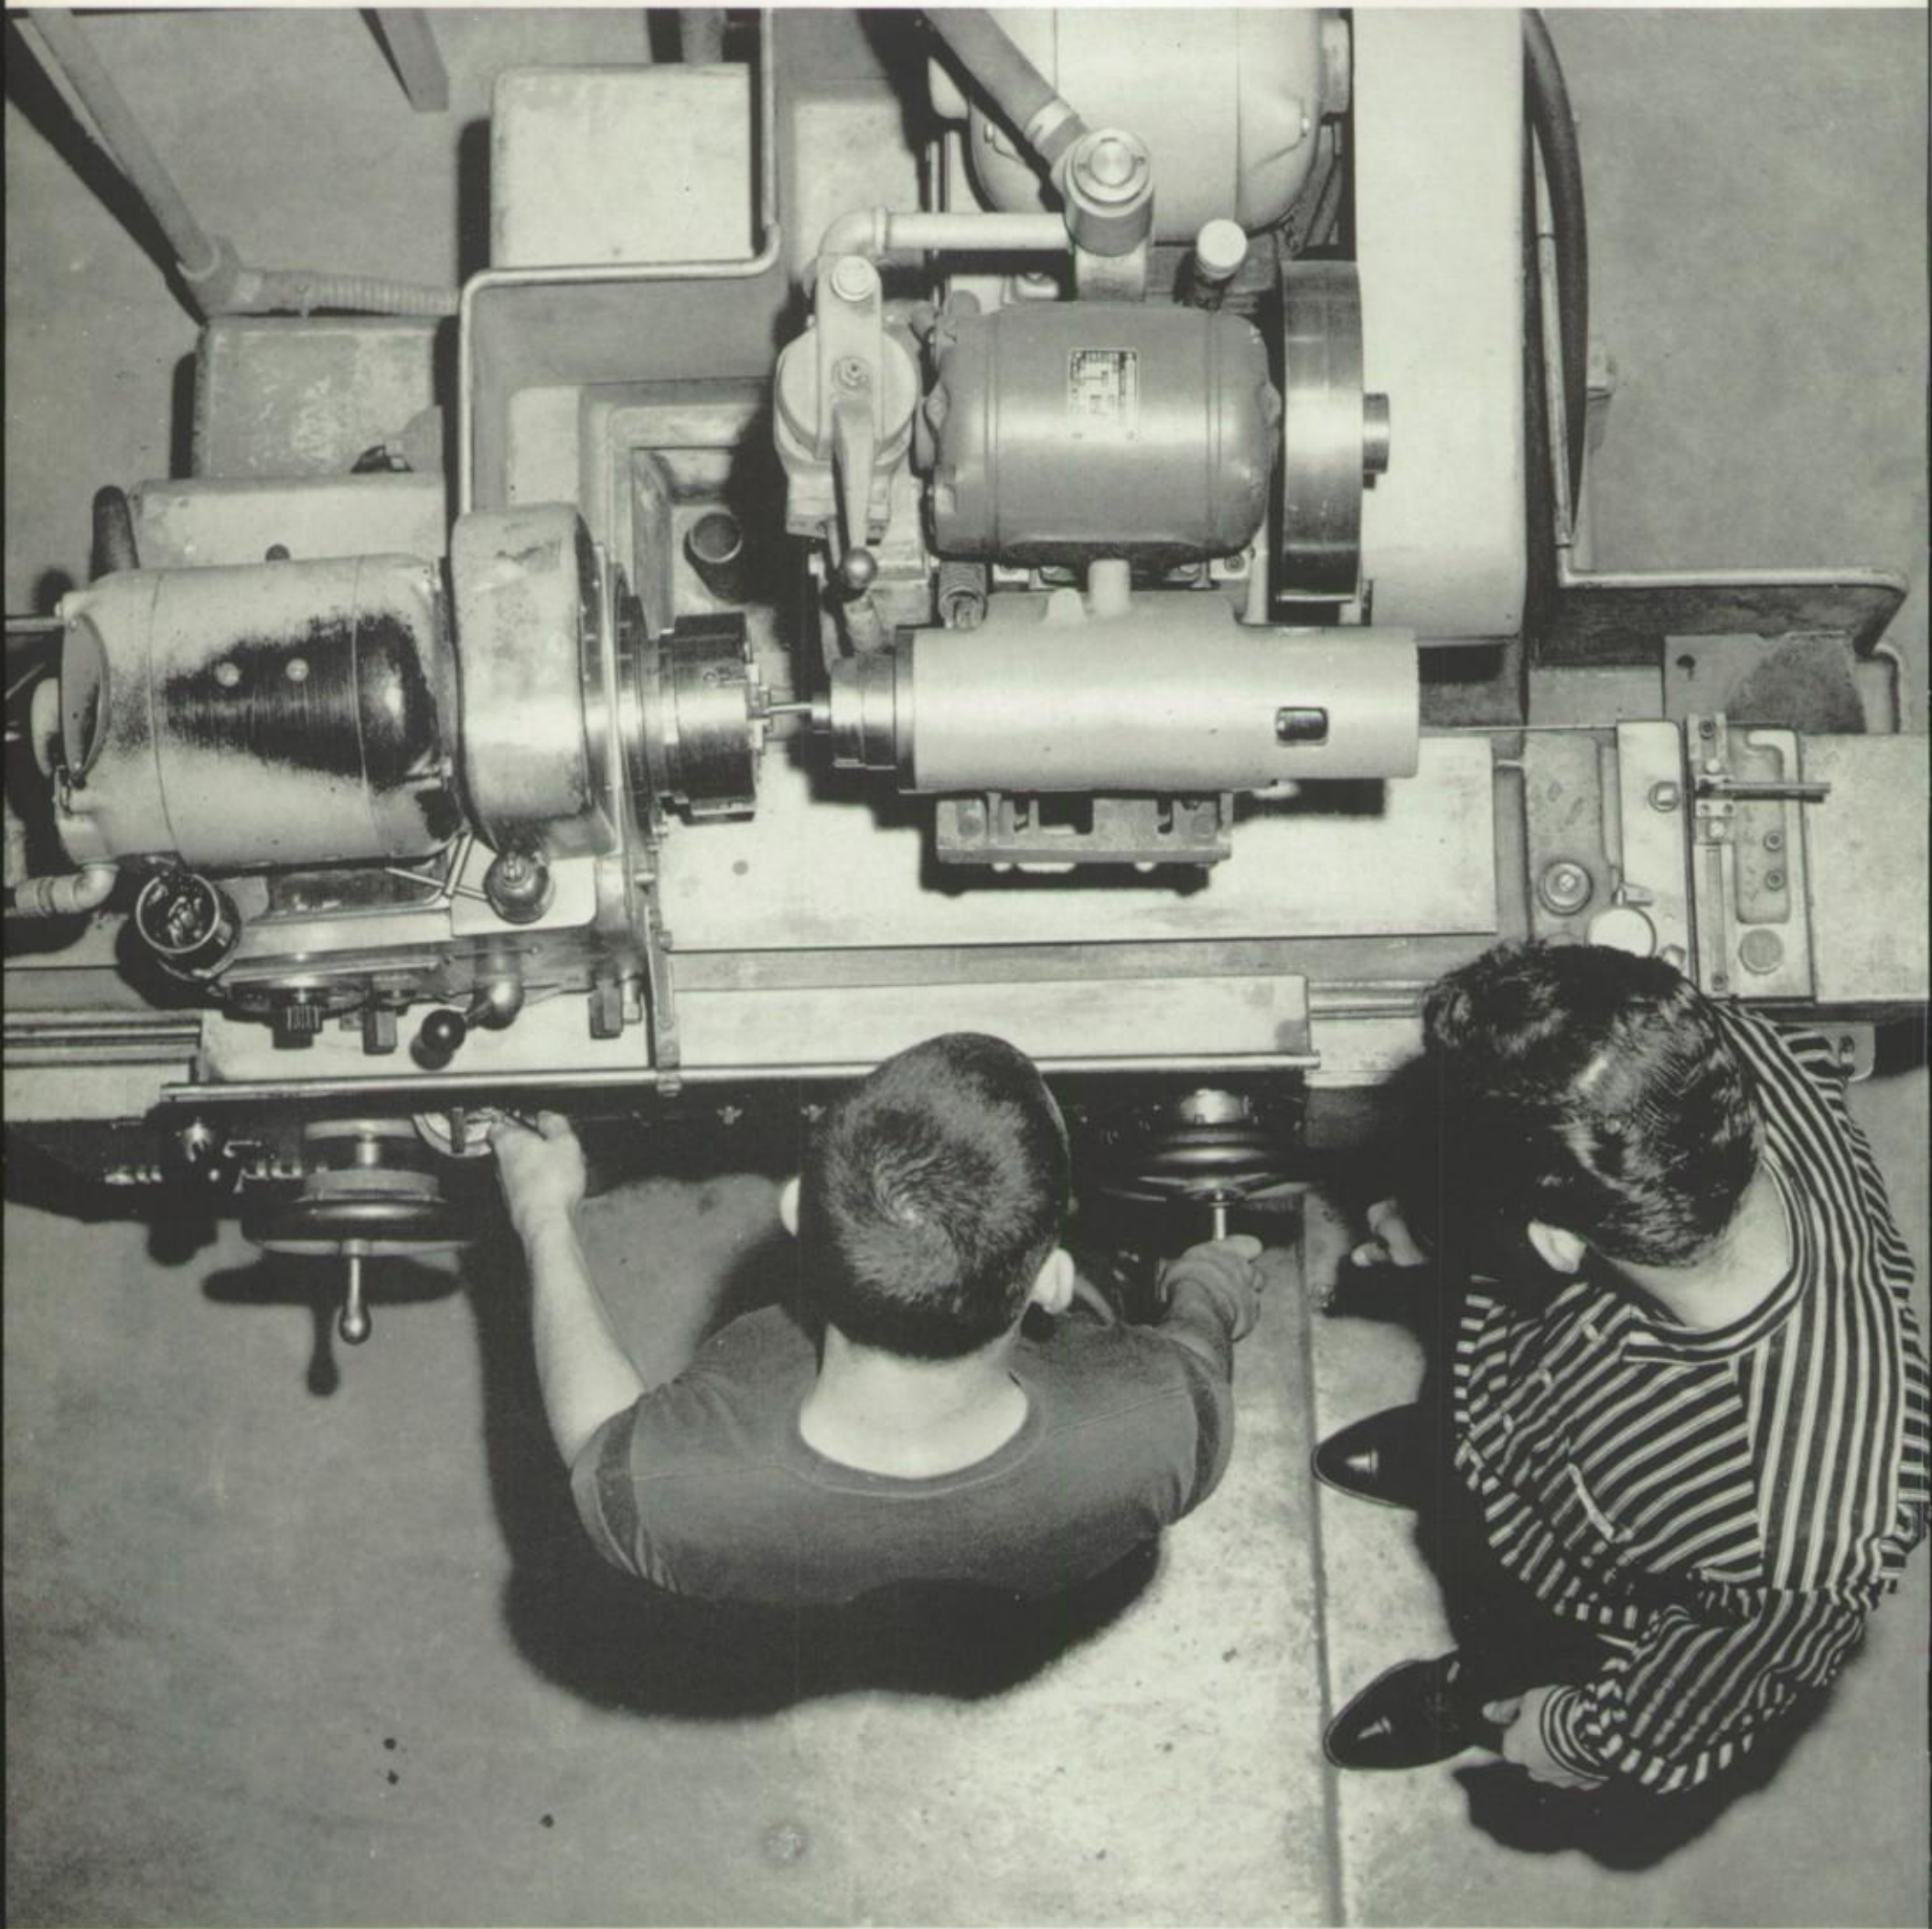

The students have the opportunity to use the most modern and up-to-date equipment. They are also taught the most modern methods of sewing. A four year training period is offered in these fields, with students co-oping in Cincinnati's garment and dry cleaning establishments in their senior year. During school, they have the honor of making costumes for the Central High School Variety Show, the Spring Play, and other dramatic and stage productions.

Tailoring students demonstrate drafting a pattern, marking in a pair of trousers, and making alterations.

Many girls are able to operate machines simultaneously in this power sewing class.

M E T A L T R A D E S

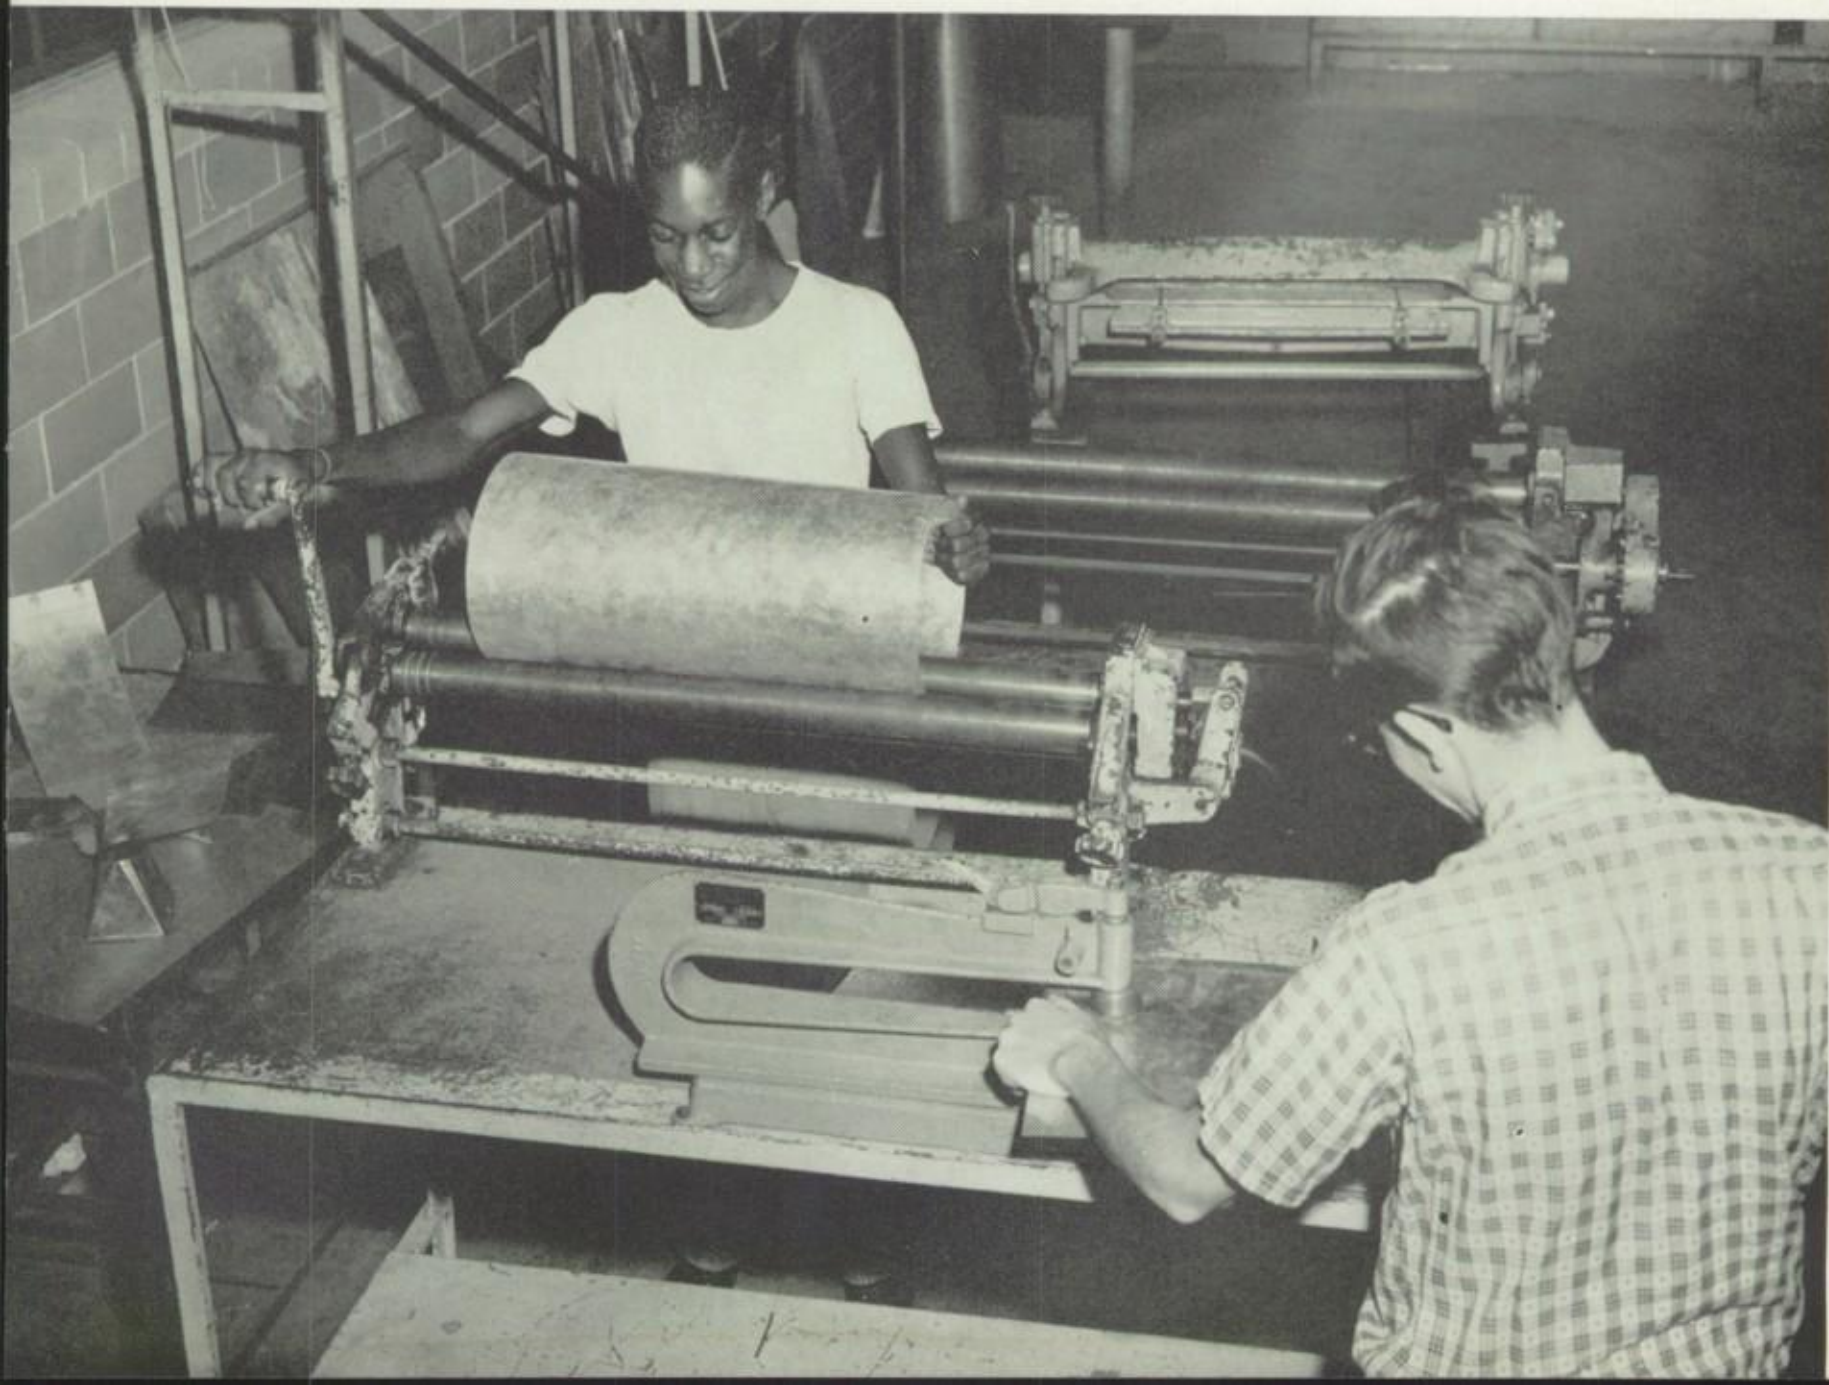

The Metal Trades Department at Central High School offers training in Basic Machine Shop, Acetylene and Electrical Welding. Some of the skills the students are taught are milling, lathe, and coning operation, welding and operation of a cylindrical grinder. The students receive thorough training under the guidance of instructors who have had a background of industrial experience. Central grants one year's credit for students' apprenticeship training.

As well as being basic shops, Sheet Metal Shop and Welding Shop may be elected as advanced courses in the eleventh and twelfth grades. Trainees in the two fields are very much in demand, and thus they can obtain profitable jobs after graduation.

Using oxy-acetylene welding torch, Stanley Henn builds a projection table.

Kenneth Jordan uses sheet metal forming rolls while Dennis Maddock uses sheet metal circle cutting rotary shears.

TECHNICAL TRAINING

The Technical Program in grades 11 and 12 is designed for pupils who wish to prepare for entrance into engineering colleges or technical schools, or who wish to prepare for technical jobs after graduation. Technical pupils may choose from the following group: Applied Chemistry, Electrical Technology, and Commercial and Industrial Design.

It is not the purpose of the Technical Program to train specialists in any one of the above areas, but to provide a broad preview of several. The chemical, electrical, and mechanical laboratories will provide the pre-engineering pupil with valuable exploratory experience as well as sufficient technical knowledge for employment, should he choose to get a job rather than to go to college.

The laboratories will provide for growth and development of knowledge through experimental and demonstration methods. All or most of the problems, processes, demonstrations, etc., will be drawn from the laboratories and shops of local industry.

This program provides most of the necessary admission requirements for engineering colleges in the United States. Since some colleges require a foreign language, students can go to summer school for this at one of the comprehensive high schools.

The general subjects curriculum which must be considered not only as a supplement to the vocational training of the individual, but also the core of his social education, is designed to prepare the student to take his place as a responsible member of our democratic society. In addition to economic self-sufficiency, the program provides for the moral and social aspects of living as well.

Social dances and a wide variety of clubs, including rifle, bowling, and many other specialized interest organizations round out a full social program.

Seventeen units, including one-half unit in physical education and one-half unit in health, are required for graduation.

Speakers, artists, and other suitable assembly programs are scheduled throughout the year. For all boys and girls interested in athletics, the opportunity to participate in a full range of sports is open to all through an intra-mural program and the regular inter-school competition.

The youthful Central graduate can go out into the world of reality with a feeling of confidence and security in the knowledge that he has been equipped with fundamentals from which character, personal happiness, usefulness to the community, and independence can be built.

PRACTICAL NURSING

Helen Talbot is shown assembling a tray for A.M. care in practical nursing class.

Emma Thomas, Essie McGee and Mary Hill practice taking a blood pressure.

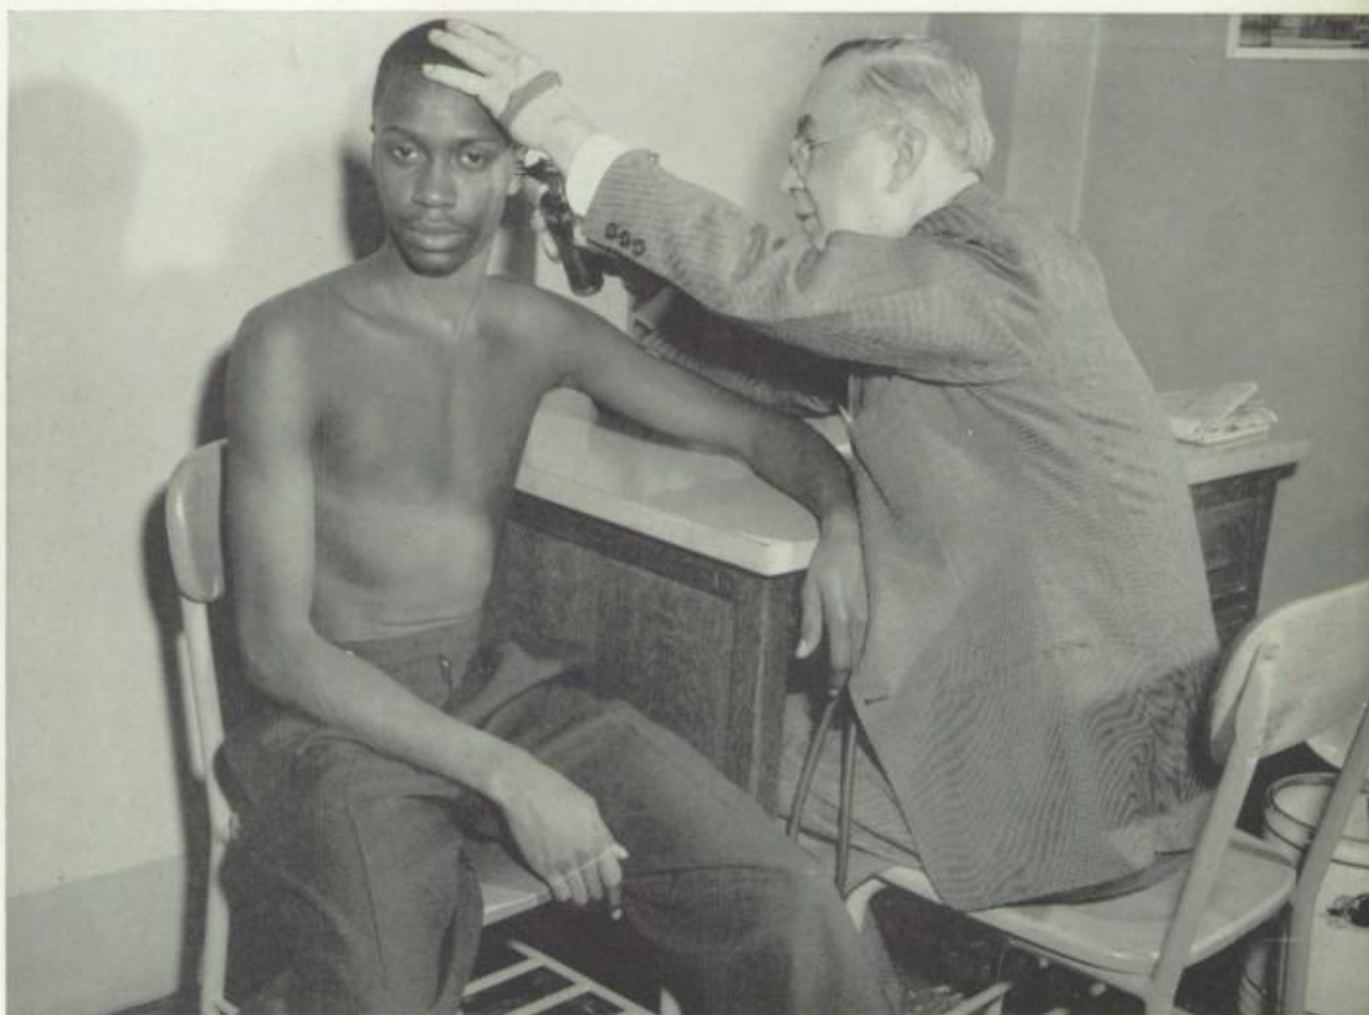

One of the most important fields in which Central High School students are trained is the field of Practical Nursing. Their program continues for twelve months. They start their training in the laboratory and classroom here at Central. The classroom training consists of instruction in body structure, personal and vocational relationships, and nutrition arts. The students practice the basic nursing arts and diet therapy in their correlated laboratories. Their next eight months of training are spent in hospitals. There are five hospitals in the Cincinnati area which provide the students with a maintenance allowance.

Classes are enrolled three times a year. Any high school girl who completes her junior year and meets the qualifications may take the Practical Nursing course in her senior year, because it is evaluated on a four year elective basis. Any girl who does choose this program as her senior year is eligible to graduate with her class both as a regular senior and as a graduate practical nurse.

HEALTH SERVICES

Dr. Floyd Cecil checks hearing of student.

School nurse, Mrs. Sara McIntyre, checks her records.

A wide range of physical and mental health services are provided throughout the Cincinnati Public Schools. Many of these services are available at Central High School.

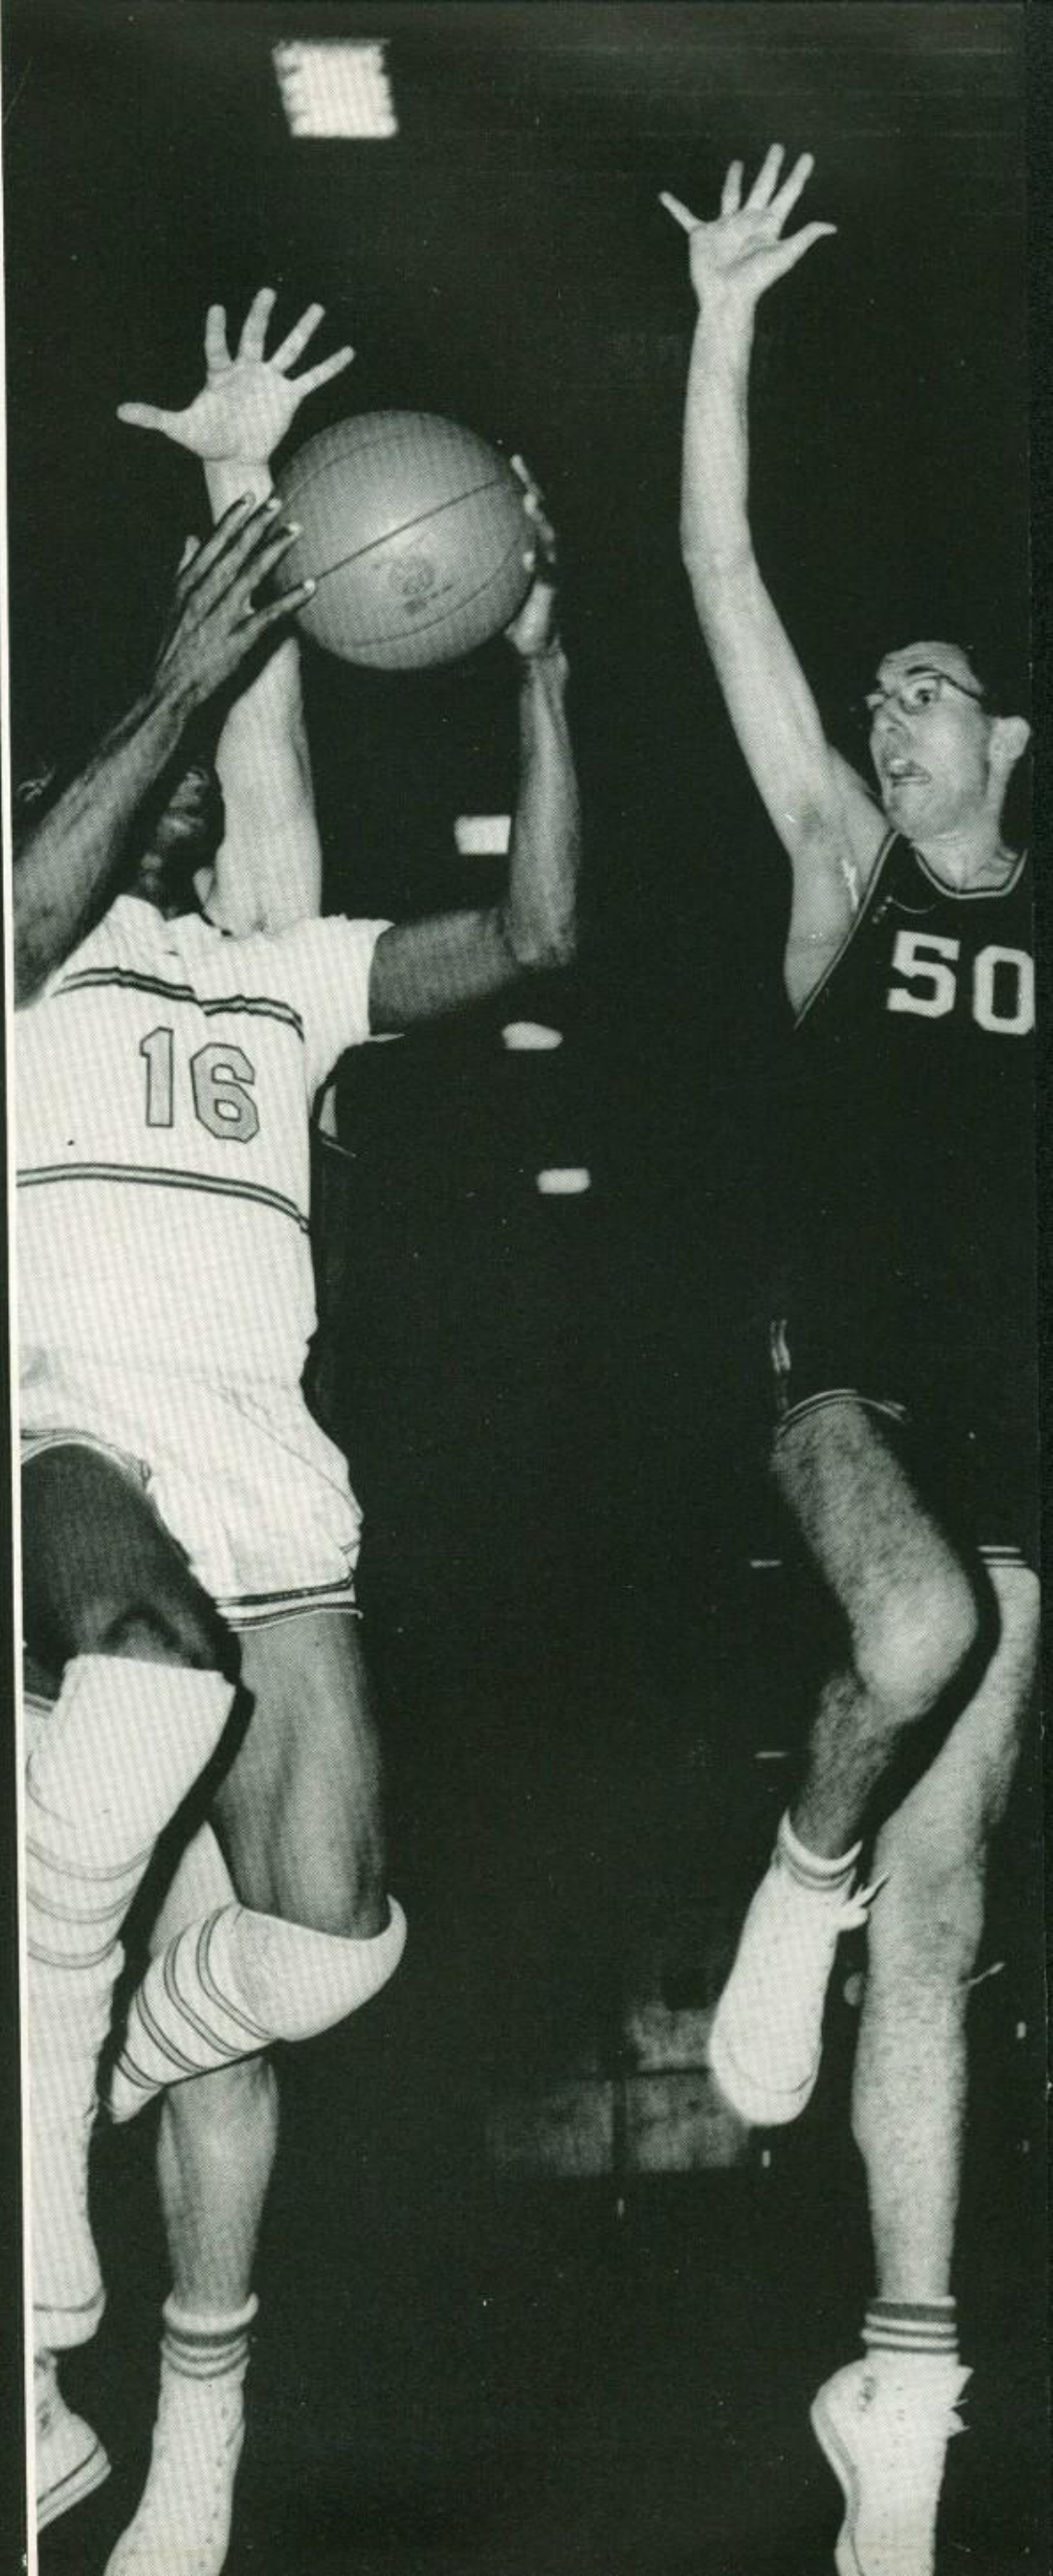

Through the Cincinnati Health Department, each student in the tenth grade receives a complete physical examination including chest X-ray, serological test, vision, hearing, and dental examinations.

When, for any reason, the examinations are missed during the tenth year, physical fitness examinations are provided for students when they begin new jobs after graduation.

Mental health is another great concern to the Cincinnati Public Schools. Students with hearing, visual, or speech defects may enroll in classes to overcome or to arrest the defect.

A broad testing program provides data about the students' general ability and academic achievement.

SENIOR GRIDIRON STARS OF 1957

Central was strong both offensively and defensively, but the team was a bit nervous at first. After settling down the Knights played a very good game. Defensively, the Knights had 114 points scored against them, while offensively they scored 251 points. The outstanding scorers for Central were: Camp, Taylor, Warren, H. Phillips, and Clarke.

The players who will leave the squad this year are: Dick Waldo, Bill Clarke, Preston Taylor, Tom Ratliff, Fred Lenser, Jack Brunner, Art Bradford, John Camp, Clarence Roberts, Ernest Larry, Ron Colwell, and Ray Phillips.

Although Central will miss these players very much, there will be promising sophomores and juniors moving up to take their places next year.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Central's defensive unit gets set for Woodward Bulldogs' offensive approach.

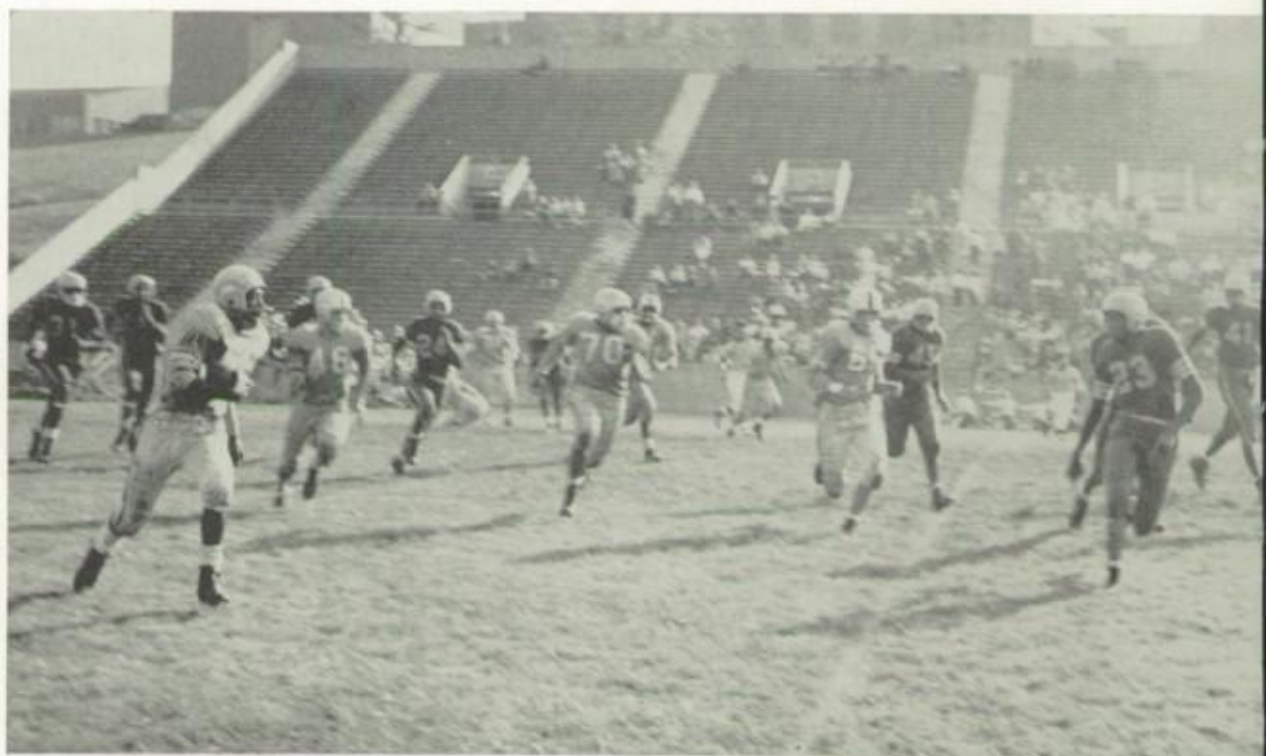

Spirit and determination characterized the 1956 varsity football team. Spirit is something intangible that is built up in practice and displayed when the chips are down. Since every team we met played inspired football, the Knights' spirit played a major role in scoring twice as many times as they were scored upon.

Helping to maintain this spirit at the games were Central's energetic cheerleaders. These girls spent long hours drilling together in order to spark the enthusiasm of the student body. Their efforts in the pep assemblies as well as on the field greatly added to the spirit of both students and players.

Before the big game the Knights of Central huddle for a pep session.

Central's varsity football team fared very well in the 1956 football season. Central came close to winning the P.H.S.L. championship, but since 1953 Central has had some bad breaks at crucial times. The squad, under the coaching of Mr. Fred Yeager, placed second in the P.H.S.L. The record showed six wins and four losses.

Central, Hughes, and Western Hills were in a three way tie for first place as the Knights went into the game with Hughes. Hughes was eliminated from the race, as Central outscored the Big Reds 53-6. Now Central was tied with Western Hills for first place, with both teams winning two league games. A fumble by Central, helped to defeat the Knights. Although the Knights lost their next two games, this rounded out a very good season.

RESERVE FOOTBALL

The reserve football squad this year completed a rather poor season. The record shows one win and six losses. Centrol-0, Woodward-7 was the score of the first of the squad's games. The only victory the reserves had was over Hughes. The score was Central-27, Hughes-0. After this victory the reserve team fell flat on their faces. They lost the next five games to Withrow 19-6, to Hamilton 13-12, to Western Hills 7-6, to Walnut Hills 14-0, and to Taft 7-0. About 20 boys will move up to take their places on the varsity team. These boys have acquired a year of priceless knowledge not only from their own experiences but also from the reserve football coach, Mr. Jim Clark.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Central's freshman team made a first-rate showing this year with a record of four wins and two losses. Getting off to a good start, Central shellacked Porter 25-0, and quickly followed this up with a victory over Western Hills 20-0. After such a good start the Knights went into a slump, losing their next two games. They lost to Withrow 14-7, and Samuel Ach 19-0. Although these two defeats set the Knights back, the team never lost confidence. They proved this by winning their next two games. The boys defeated Woodward 27-0, and Walnut Hills 19-0. Under the excellent coaching of Mr. Irvin Kuehn, the freshman squad had a very successful year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Central's varsity basketball squad will not count 1957 as one of its best seasons. With a season record of two wins and fifteen losses, the Knights entered the tournament. After winning a close game with Hughes, 68 to 67, Central was beaten by Middletown, 105 to 55. The Knights' main problem was the lack of height. Although it was a bad season, it didn't bother the spirit of the Knights. They finished up the season a lot better than they started. Prospects for next year are very bright with a championship reserve squad moving up.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

The reserve basketball team had a very good season. They are reserve champions with fifteen wins and three losses. After beating Norwood 43 to 41, the Knights won six straight. After dropping a game to Western Hills, 50 to 43, the reserves took the next two from Hughes and Fairfield, 34 to 31 and 42 to 22 respectively. St. Xavier defeated the Knights in the next game. Then the reserve squad took the next six games from their opponents. They rounded out the season by losing to Taft 39 to 33. Mr. Daniel, who is the reserve coach for Central, is a new member of the coaching staff. It is hoped that he will stay and bring many more reserve teams to championships.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Some defensive practice is done by the reserve squad.

The freshman basketball squad had a fairly good season. Coach Yeager's beginning basketballers compiled a record of nine wins and three losses. The season started with Central's beating Purcell by eighteen points. In the second game, Withrow beat Central by two points, and in the third game Norwood beat us by one point. After this, the Knights won five straight games. They beat Oyler, Bloom, Hughes, Walnut Hills, and Porter. In the next game against Western Hills, Central was defeated 37 to 26. The freshman rounded out the season by winning the next two games and losing the last one. They beat Woodward by 35 points, Cutter by 24 points, and were beaten by one point in the Central vs. Ach game.

VARSITY TRACK

Coach Irv Kuehn was in charge of the 1956 edition of Central's track team. The assistant coach was Roy Lagaly. Under their guidance the Knights showed up well in every meet they entered. They won two triangle meets, and placed second in one quadruple meet.

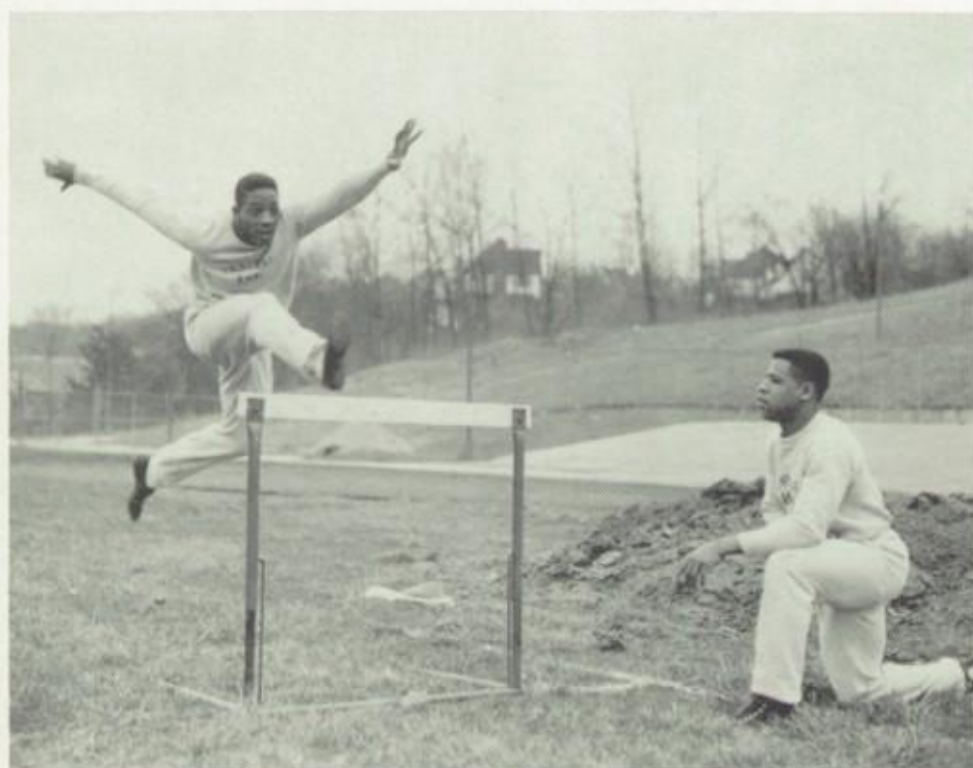

In the opinion of Coach Kuehn the Knights would have won the distance competition, except for the fact that three top boys developed injuries, namely, Tom McNeal, Walter Tucker, and Tom Cook.

The fact that Central had Ralph Carpenter running up points in the pole vaulting event certainly helped to counterbalance the loss in the distance runs.

Proof of the excellent coaching and hard work exerted by all concerned with the track squad of 1956 is in the record of the various meets. In the Public High School Invitational meet, Central ranked second out of 22 schools. In the regular P.H.S.L. meet consisting of seven schools Central came in second. The South West District meet which brings together 38 schools, the Knights again totaled enough points to rate second place. This is indeed a challenge to future teams and is a record to be proud of.

Third Row: Clarence Brooks, Robert Johnson, Don Welton, Emmett Roper, Carl Schmidt, John Smith, Russell Henn.

The junior high track team had some difficulty in getting started in 1956. There were very few boys out for this team, but the coaches expressed hope in the rebuilding of the squad with the addition to Central of a seventh and eighth grade. About twenty boys were expected to turn out for the 1957 season.

At least two boys gave brightening outlook for the junior team. They are Leon Casson and Charlie Heard. Coach Roy Lagaly also assists Irv Kuehn in training the boys who turn out for the junior track team. It is hoped that many more boys will see the varied possibilities in this spring sport and will sign up for it in the future.

CROSS COUNTRY

The 1956-57 edition of Central High School's cross country team finished in last place in P. H. S. L. competition.

Central's Harriers got off to a bad start in the first P. H. S. L. meet by finishing seventh with 151 points. This piece of bad luck seemed to plague Central's team, for they also finished seventh in the other two P. H. S. L. meets.

The Reserve team also had its troubles by being disqualified in three out of four meets. In the meet they were in they finished last with 170 points.

Mr. Daniel, the new cross country coach at Central, felt that most of the difficulties of this year's team stemmed from lack of experience.

The Knight's baseball team finished the 1956 season with an 8-3 record in PHSL play. This landed them in second place behind West Hi. In all games, the team had an 11-4 slate. After losing to Purcell the Knights quickly followed up with a win over Western Hills 9-4. The team then lost to Hughes but bounced back to win 13-1 over Walnut Hills. Central then won the next 4 with the victories over Taft 8-5, Withrow 3-2, Woodward 14-9, Wyoming 8-7. After losing to West Hi 8-1, the Knights won the next 3 games over Hughes 6-0, Walnut Hills 12-6, Taft 6-4. Withrows Tigers downed the Centralites 3-1 and finished out the regular season beating Woodward 15-5. In the tournament, the Knights lost a close game to Purcell, 4-2.

One of Central's most successful athletic teams is the gym team. For the third consecutive year the Knights have won the championship. Under Mr. Robert Sarsfield's expert coaching, our gym team has won fifteen consecutive meets. This year the team participated in three public school city meets, the Turner invitational meet, and the YMCA invitational meet.

A highlight of the assembly program this year was the gym team's exhibition before all the student body in the gym. Featured were the Universals, a comedy group including Calvin "Zeke" Hargis, Percy "Muscles" DeBruce, Ben "Slippery Sam" Hale, and Albert "Flip Happy" Felts.

Champion varsity performers for the year were Virgil Ecton, the all around champion; Billy Fisher, horizontal bar; John Seymour, long horse; Virgil Ecton, tumbling; and Billy Fisher and Virgil Ecton, parallel bar.

Reserve champions were Charles Simpson, all around champion, long horse, and parallel bar; Paul Keller, side horse.

Captain of the 1956-57 team was Calvin Hargis. The team elected Virgil Ecton captain of the 1957-58 team.

BOWLING

Bill Zeilman, captain, shows the form that produces strikes.

The Cincinnati Public High School League has six teams: Withrow, Walnut Hills, Western Hills, Woodward, Hughes, and Central. The teams meet on Tuesdays for twelve weeks, each team competing twice for a total of thirty games.

The Central team practices on Friday, and the five highest scorers compete in the following week's game. Central placed fifth in the PHSL Bowling League this year. The boys who participate in bowling receive a letter for their efforts.

Mr. Kemp, a social studies teacher, is the coach. Bill Zeilman is the team captain. Other members of the team are: Bob Zeilman, Ray Zeilman, Rick Hoog, Bill Hayes, Cliff Jones, and Allen Jones. Rick Hoog had the second highest average in the league—178. His high single game was an excellent 231.

Starting with a new school and inexperienced swimmers, our boys in four years' time won two major championships, and in the state finals at Ohio State finished fifth out of 45 teams.

Our divers once again led Central to its championship. Al Warren, our All-American diver, repeated his victory of last year to be state champion. John Deininger finished second behind Warren by seven-tenths of a point. Central may never again have two such great divers as John and Al.

Our outstanding swimmers were led by Jack Warndorf, Ben McIntosh, and Fred Chasteen. Jack, a backstroker, usually finished first or second in all the local meets and fifth in the state.

Ben McIntosh, a sophomore flash, won the city championship in the 200 yd. free-style and also placed fifth in the state.

Fred Chasteen, who finished 3rd and 4th in the city, did exceptionally well at Ohio State and finished in 6th place.

Our 200 yd. medley relay team of seniors broke the city record by one and a half seconds. They were Jack Warndorf, Bill Meyer, our Co-captain, Oda Marcum, and Ray Phillips.

Fred Fox and Ray Phillips, our fastest 50 yd. swimmers, finished close to first place in the city meets, and alternated in anchoring our free-style relay team which was second in the city.

Bill Meyer and Jerry Weimer were our best distance swimmers and along with James Paxton always scored points in the 150 yd. individual medley.

Our best utility men were Co-captain, Frank Feldhaus and Dan Sullivan who usually were shifted around to give us extra strength in many different events.

Our physical education classes are designed to improve moral standards, building up the body, and teaching good sportsmanship. It gives boys and girls a chance to take part in activities or to participate as a spectator. This is achieved through intramural competition.

So closely related are the health and physical education classes, that they are often thought of as one. On a junior and senior level Red Cross First Aid and Life Saving are other techniques taught in this course.

Class instruction is given in minor games such as: volleyball, swimming, tumbling and apparatus work, track and field events, softball, and others. So varied are the sports that a boy or girl has a chance to choose any he may wish.

Under the guidance of Mr. Schmidt, these boys are developing skill in basketball fundamentals.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Mr. Sarsfield's gym class warms up with some calisthenics, designed to exercise various sets of muscles.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a program for promoting girls' athletics. Numerous activities are offered so that every girl can participate and become a member of G.A.A. A wide selection from the more vigorous sports, such as baseball and volleyball, to the milder forms of athletics, such as ping pong and badminton, are offered to any girl who wants to come out and join in on the fun.

This association is under the direction of the girls' phys-ed. teachers, which include Mrs. Bea Jacobson, Miss Roberta Stagge, Mrs. Edna Rehkamp, and Miss Verlie Meyers. Other types of activities in addition to the fine sports program includes modern dancing, tap dancing, social dancing, and square dancing.

An opportunity to officiate and participate in the activities are given to the girls to develop an appreciation for sports and to grow in ability, character, and sportsmanlike conduct. Playdays and intramural tournaments give the G.A.A.'ers opportunity to bring about many friendships which might not otherwise have resulted.

One of the most exciting of the fall sports in the opinion of many Central girls is hockey. The girls are taught the knacks and skills of dribbling, passing, and guarding. They participated with other Cincinnati high schools in the Hockey Play-day at Walnut Hills.

Mrs. Bea Jacobson, a member of the Physical Education Department, was in charge of the enthusiastic, ambitious hockey teams. It was her duty to supply the girls who turned out for the games with all the essential knowledge needed to play and to be victorious at the sport. All of this energetic activity took place after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays, as do the other GAA sports.

Volleyball can be as much fun as it looks, and yet provide valuable exercise for all.

VOLLEYBALL

One of the most exciting and the best liked of all girls' sports is volleyball. Volleyball, a sport in which everyone can participate, was divided into two sections so that all the girls could participate in this fast-moving game. It was divided into Junior High and Senior High volleyball. At the volleyball practices girls were taught the best technics and forms of the game. They learned cooperation with fellow teammates and good sportsmanship. The girls, if they attend enough practices, are eligible to represent Central at the annual Volleyball Play Day. At Play Day they compete against various teams from other Greater Cincinnati High Schools for awards. The girls, under the excellent leadership of Mrs. Edna Rehkamp, made a wonderful showing at this Play Day.

B A S K E T B A L L

Basketball is the major winter sport of G.A.A. After the fall season, the girls are anxious to get indoors and play the game they like so well. "Dribble," "pass," and "shoot" are the shouts of the girls as they get the feel of the ball again.

Basketball is played both in the physical education classes and in the after-school program. Miss Meyers and Mrs. Rehkamp are in charge of teaching the girls the different basketball skills during the practice sessions.

Every student must have a heart examination before becoming a member of the team. It is necessary for a player to have played in at least three-fourths of the season's games. This is also necessary before a letter can be received. As the season closes, the underclassmen look forward with anticipation to playing basketball the following year and the seniors will keep in mind the good times they had in the after-school program.

That basket looks awfully high.

ARCHERY

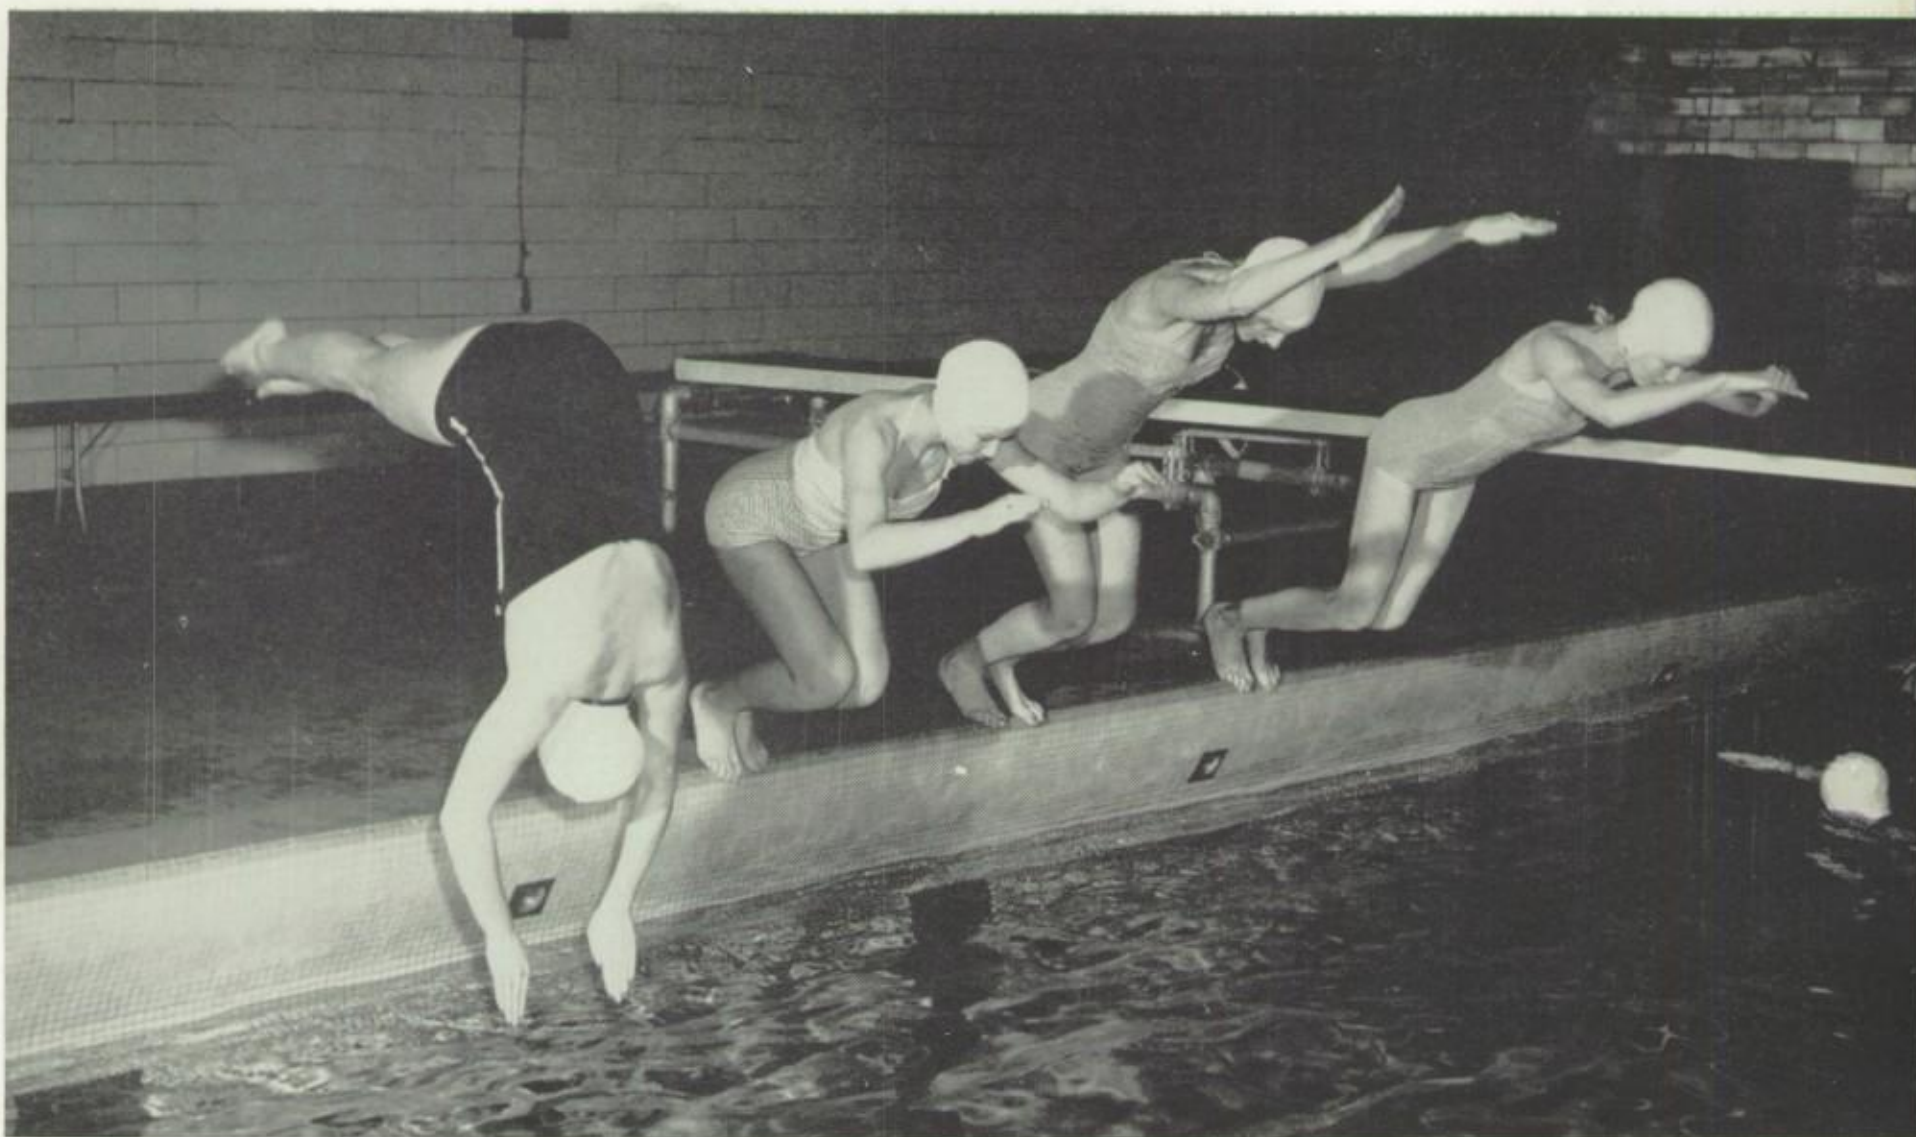

Mrs. Jacobson removes arrow as Betty Etherington, Kathy Bojar and Elsie Winters observe.

This year's archery season was as exciting as the previous year's. The turnout of girls to learn the art of archery was very good. Even though, because of inexperience, archery caused many girls to leave after a lesson to go home with black and blue arms, sore muscles, and blistered fingers, they still felt a glow of self-satisfaction within them. It is really satisfying to know that you have learned a skill such as archery.

Each season a tournament is held between different teams which is made up of the members of the G.A.A. archery class. These teams compete for the highest total of points. The team which has succeeded in securing the most points is declared the winner of the tournament.

The girls again took part in the annual Spring Sports Day at Lunken Airport along with the other sections of G.A.A.

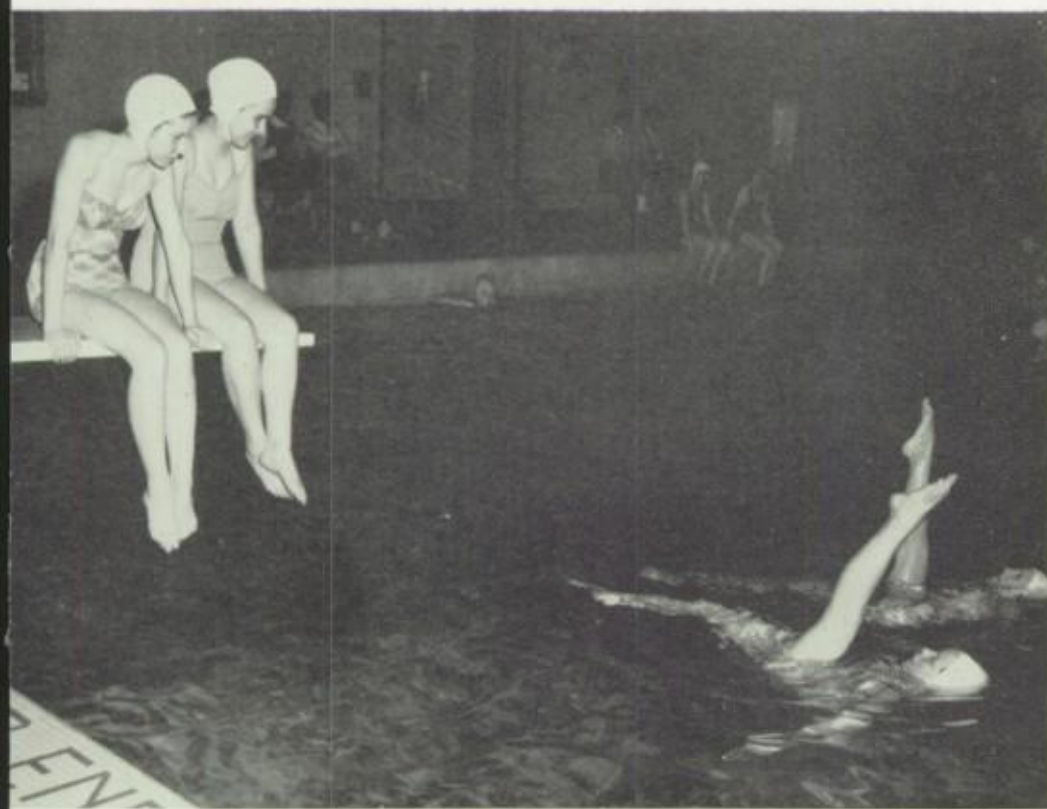

"Practice makes perfect" is a good motto for girls learning to dive.

S W I M M I N G

Splash! That's the noise that comes from the swimming pool on Monday and Wednesday after school. These afternoons are reserved for swimming, one of G.A.A.'s most popular sports. The girls improve their aquatic skills during these practice sessions. Those who are more experienced and who develop these skills are selected to represent Central in the swim meets.

The girls who participated in swimming held a Water Ballet. This is the third consecutive year G.A.A. has presented such a show. This year the show was held on Thursday afternoon, January 31, and on Friday night, February 1. It was entitled "Weather Waves."

Swimming will continue as one of the most popular activities of G.A.A. as the girls are beginning to see and take advantage of the opportunities offered in his program.

Girls practice for water ballet.

"One, two, three, you're out!" What a welcome sound after a long winter. What is more inviting than softball on a spring day? Being one of the most exciting sports, it has played a very important part in the G.A.A. program.

With great enthusiasm and much practice, the team looks forward to competing with other opponents. Lunken Airport Playfield is usually the battlefield for competition.

Under the wonderful guidance of Miss Meyers, the girls have made great progress securing credit for membership in G.A.A.

The girls have made every effort to make this one of the most outstanding sports in the athletic program here a Central. Let's hope the turnout for the team gets bigger and better as the years go by.

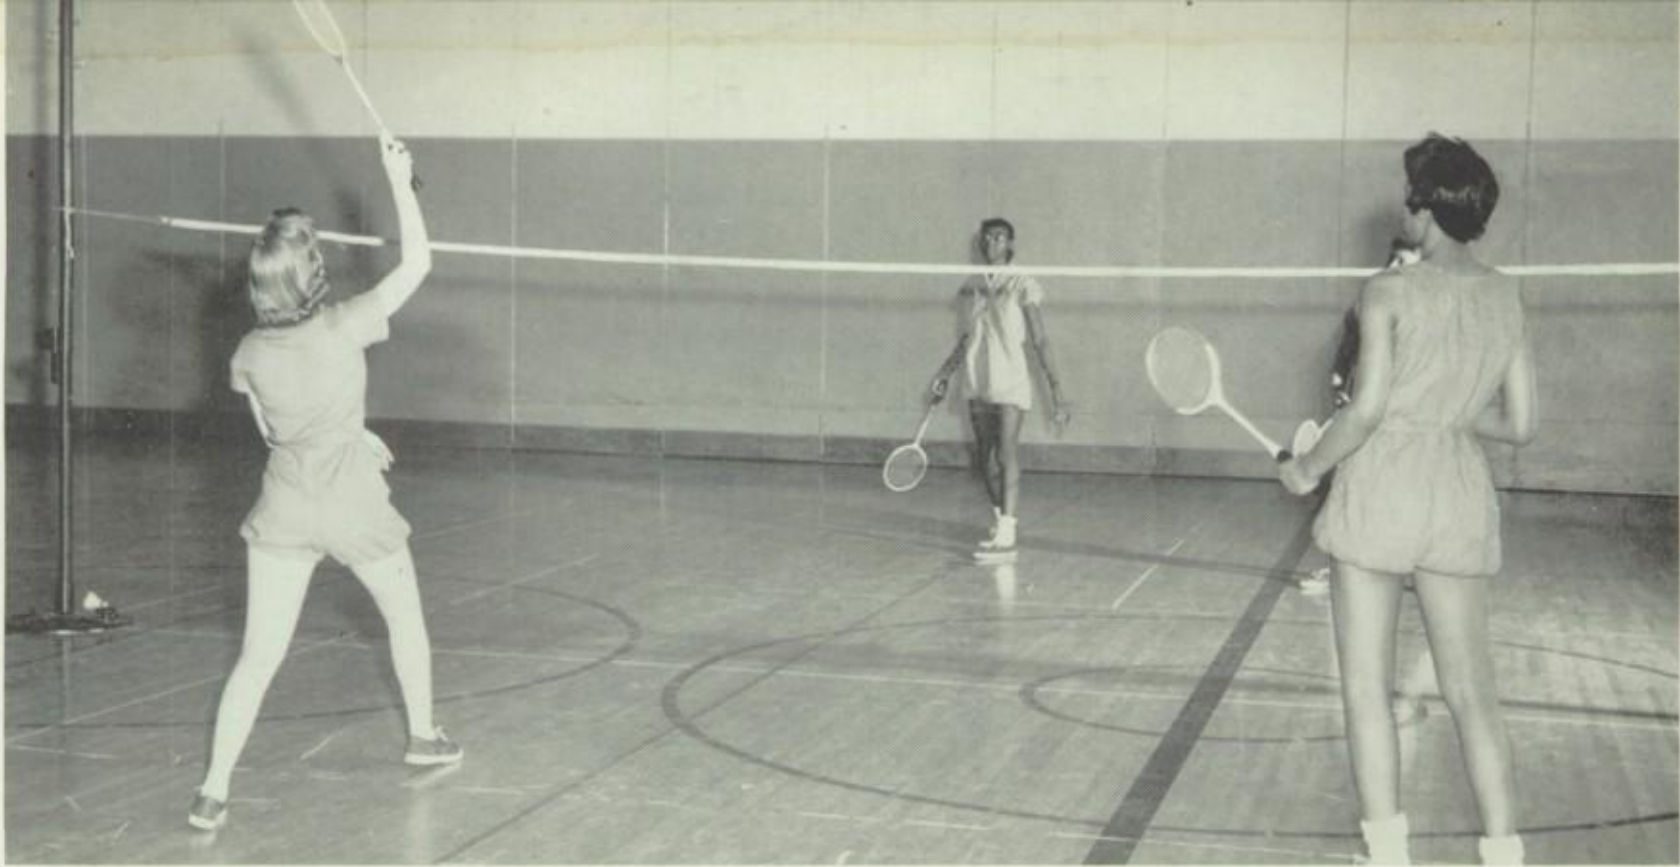

Delcena Phillips, Lillian Williams, Liz Patman, Julia Johnson, Anna Randolph, and Barbara Ramsey stand by as Kathy Milline and Jewel Fitzwater choose sides.

Badminton teaches balance and poise as well as giving enjoyment.

B A D M I N T O N

Because of the great demand for individual sports badminton has become a very popular activity here at Central. A large number of pupils have enrolled in the tournaments which are sponsored by G.A.A. Singles and doubles are included in these games.

The girls enjoy taking part in this fun-loving game and like to watch their hours of practice develop confidence for competition with their opponents. Badminton is a game in which practice makes perfect, as all the girls on the badminton team well know.

T A B L E T E N N I S

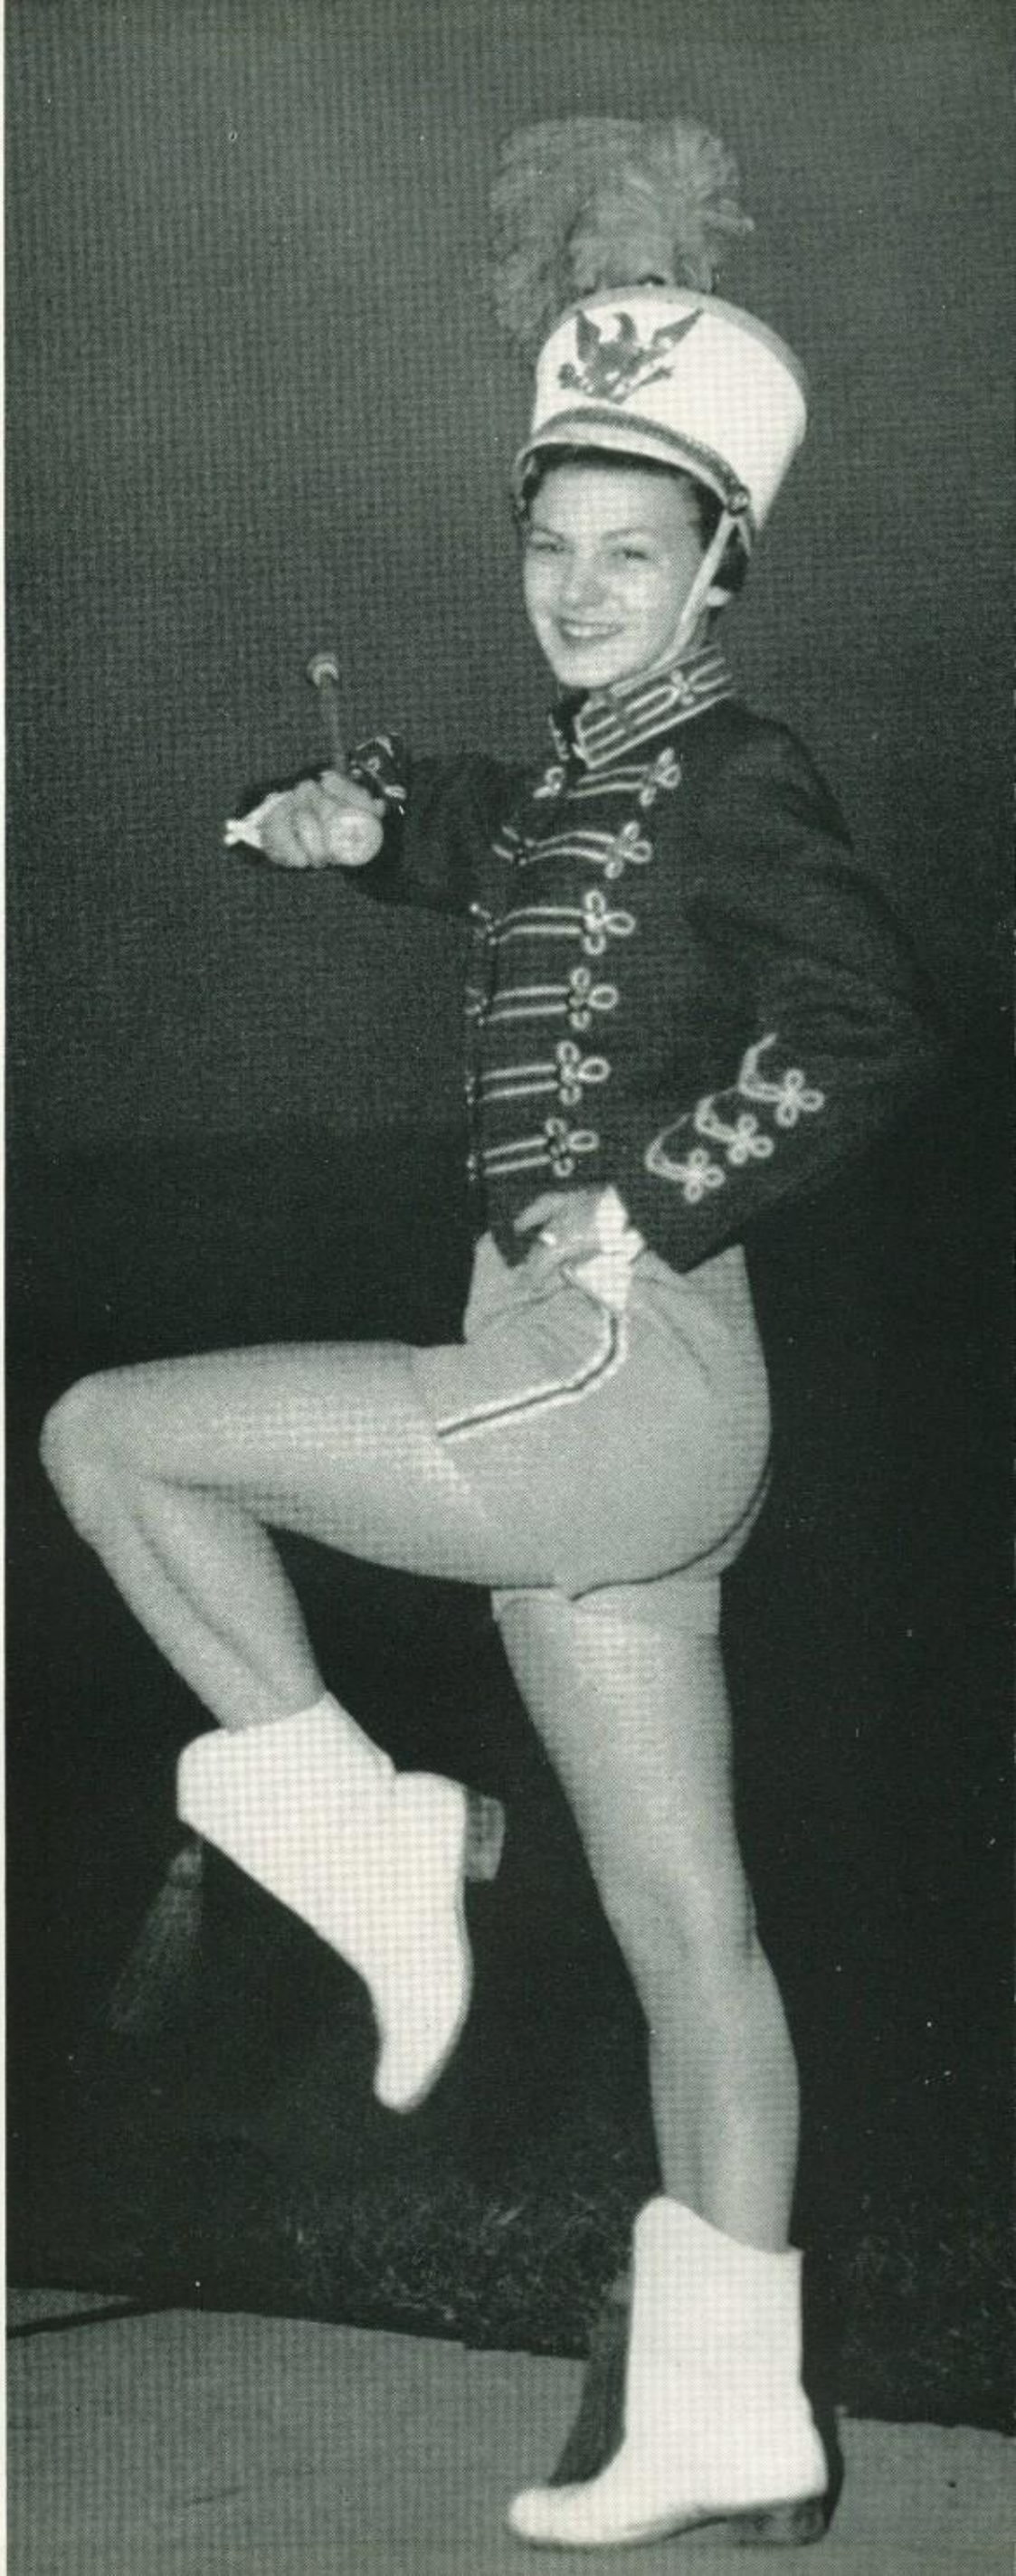

G.A.A. teaches the skills of table tennis. All that is needed to become a member of the team is the will, the capacity, and a feeling of doing something constructive. After learning the rules of table tennis, the more difficult matter of skill is developed.

A sense of pride fills the girls as they see their effort rewarded with real accomplishment. This feeling of team and personal pride is very important in everything the team or individual does, and is essential to every phase of life.

Table tennis keeps the on-lookers as interested in the game as the players.

STUDENT COUNCIL

At the first meeting of the Student Representative Assembly nominations for various jobs on the Student Council are considered. The candidates that are chosen are then voted upon by the student body. The Council holds its meetings once each month in the Conference Room. Mrs. Ruth Lape and Mr. Homer Jones are the advisors for the council.

The Student Council has four main purposes. These are: (1) to promote good school spirit and citizenship, (2) to promote respect for and cooperation with the professional staff, (3) to help formulate general policies that affect social behavior on and off the campus, and (4) to encourage a desirable interpretation of the school program to parents, friends, and other community groups.

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE ASSEMBLY

At the beginning of the school year each homeroom elects two students to be its representative in the Student Representative Assembly. Mrs. Ruth Lape and Mr. Homer Jones are the advisors of this group as well as the advisors of the Council. These representatives bring forth the ideas and wishes of their fellow classmates and call them to the attention of the professional staff. They then report to their homeroom the discussions and decisions of the Assembly and the Student Council.

Mr. Robert Wheeler, director of instrumental music at Central.

CENTRAL HIGH BAND

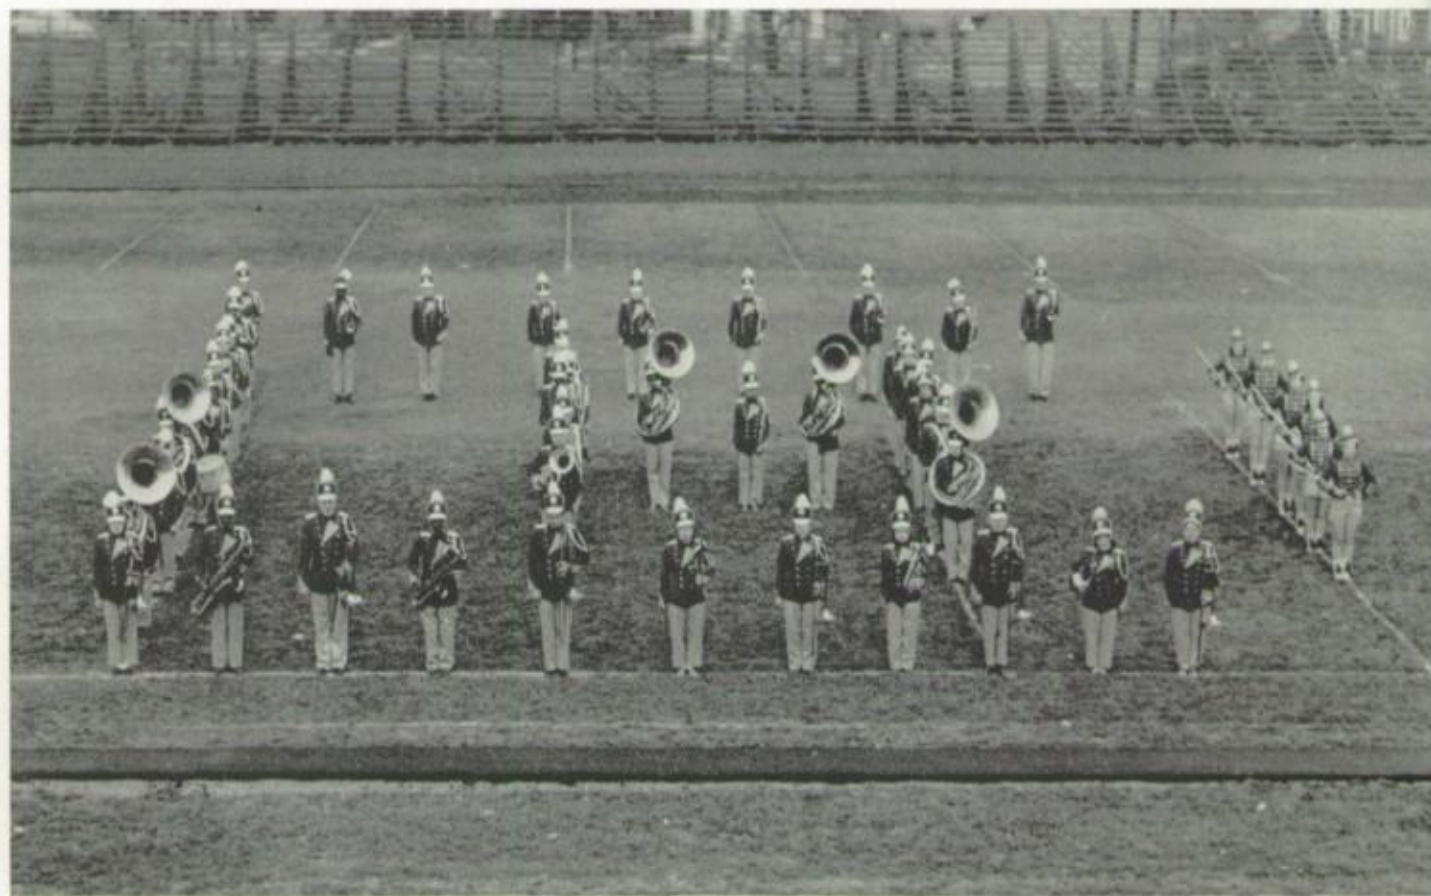

Band is one of the many elective subjects offered at Central. It is under the direction of Mr. Robert Wheeler. At the end of this year, the group can look back upon a lot of hard work, but also on a great number of happy events.

This year's band is composed of 51 members. They have furnished music at football games, numerous assemblies, Class Day exercises, and Commencement exercises. It has certainly been a successful year for this group.

From the regular band members, our dance band is selected. This dance band, which contains some of the best of the band members, plays at the annual Sweetheart Dance, the Spring Play, and the Variety Show.

The dance band, and the school band have a spirit that is admired by many. They participate in and support many school activities which requires them to give up much of their spare time.

The Central High Band is shown at attention in the familiar CHI formation.

Mr. Abraham Gershkovitz, choral music director.

Choral music will always play an important part in the culture of our high schools. The need for the emotional growth, as well as the physical and intellectual, has been recognized as a part of a well-rounded school program. Here at Central we organized our Senior Choir on the basis of individual tests, background, and desire. We have approximately 55 people in our choir which meets in the morning before school.

The planned programs for the year include the Christmas program, the spring concert, the Variety Show and our graduation. We hope other programs will develop.

The emphasis is on choral music which has been tried and tested over the years. We sing great church music, secular and modern show music. We give our soloists opportunities to perform. We hope that our choir will grow and improve and help in developing that spirit which make Central such a fine school.

Mr. Gershkovitz practices harmonizing with a few members of his choir.

The entire Editorial Staff doubled as assistants for the Business Staff.

The 1957 PENDULUM is produced under the supervision of a new editorial adviser and a new business advisor. Mr. Mace C. Justice assumed the responsibility of counseling our editorial staff in the publication of this edition. Mr. Charles Salie took over the reins of matters financial. The staff worked in close harmony with their new advisors.

Co-editors were elected to produce the 1957 PENDULUM so that editorial leadership would be available all of the time. Frieda Pappashales, a senior, and Joyce Doll, a junior, were charged with the responsibility of doing the job. An important feature is that aside from specific responsibilities, each staff member assists in getting all jobs done.

At the peak of the Sweetheart Dance, editorial work almost ceases at the demand of the feverish activity required by this most important social event on the Cenral High School calendar.

KNIGHT LIFE

"Knight Life" bears the distinction of being completely a student production from reporting to printing. Reporters, recruited from the outstanding pupils of the school, gather the facts and compose them into proper journalistic form.

Before a pupil qualifies for a reporter's position, he commonly spends some time in training, assisting the copy staff in the preparation of newspaper material.

The entire operation of publishing the newspaper is supervised by four student editors, Judy Crandell, Violet Davis, Becky Lytle, and Bertha Edwards under the guidance of Mr. Joseph Felix, editorial advisor.

These pupils, selected as the best of outstanding journalists, sacrifice many hours of their free time to make the newspaper measure up to the high standard set down by "Knight Life" editorial policy.

When the newspaper has been printed, it is distributed and circulated by pupils on the business staff under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Clift.

'NIGHT AND DAY' CENTRAL'S '57 VARIETY SHOW

Central's 1957 variety show was presented on May 9, 10, and 11. The theme for the show was "Night and Day." Beginning with numbers like "Rise and Shine" and "Lucky Day" the show continued with such songs as "High Noon," "When Day Is Done," "Night Train," and "I Could Have Danced All Night." It ended by repeating the opening number "Rise and Shine."

Using this music, a variety of dances, vocal numbers, acrobatic feats, comedy skits, as well as orchestral numbers was presented. The cast consisted of Central's most talented students. Central's own dance band was the mainstay of the entire show.

Mr. Robert Wheeler was again director of the show, Mr. Walter Brunsman the assistant director, Mr. Gershkovitz the vocal director, and Mrs. Bea Jacobson the choreographer.

CENTRAL'S 1957 DRAMATIC PRODUCTION IS "BUY JUPITER"

Tom Bradford & George Kihnke direct the lighting.

"Buy Jupiter", a comedy in three acts, by William Davidson, was the happy choice made by Mrs. Sylvia Martin for Central's dramatic production this year. This comedy—farce has for its setting a department store, and the plot revolves around some inflated rubber rabbits (Jupiters) which have been sold to the buyer on a pretext that they could talk. When it has been discovered that a ventriloquist was the culprit who sold these amazing creatures to the store, it is already too late, and the uproarious situations which follow make for a truly entertaining show.

The Centralites who by their talent and industry made this play believable were members of Cendra, our dramatic group. Starring roles were played by Charlotte Noel, Tom Wheat, Janet Powell, Fritz Feldhaus, Dave Wakefield, and John Deininger.

In the opinion of many students and teachers this year's play was the best yet, both from the standpoint of script and performance. Unforgettable moments included: John Deininger (the ventriloquist) selling the gullible personnel his bill of goods; Art Bradford walking on reversed skis; Fritz Feldhaus' jitterbugging as a store maid; the dives (?) into the ever-present delivery cart; and Evelyn Jackson pinching everything in sight in her nearsighted attempts to find a pair of stockings.

Congratulations to Mrs. Martin, Miss Edith Warner, her associate director, and all who helped to make "Buy Jupiter" a resounding success!

Mr. Peck is fired!

Each year the cheerleaders sponsor the Mr. and Miss Pep contest. The announcement is made during halftime at one of the important football games. The cheerleaders conduct pep rallies, lead cheers at the football and basketball games, and also at the pep sessions held throughout the year.

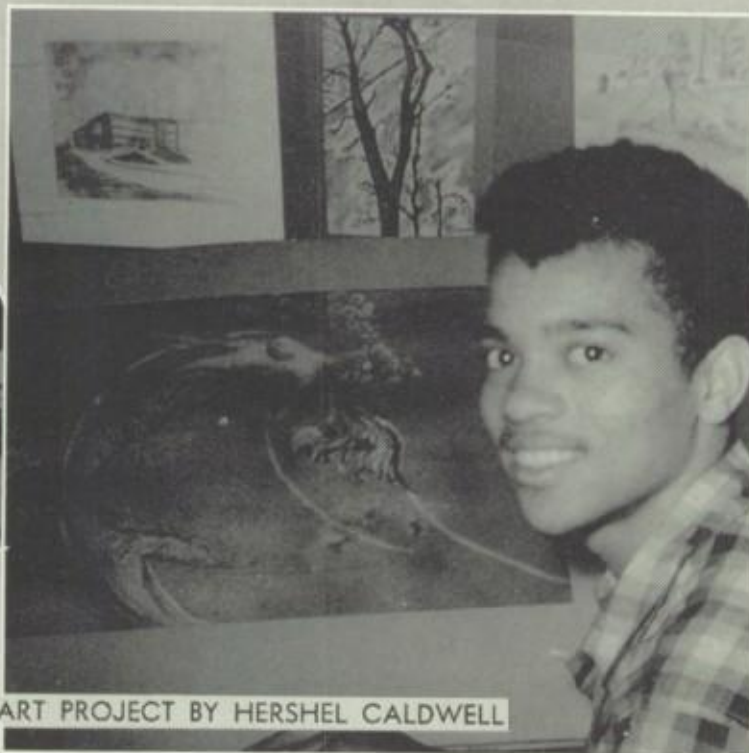

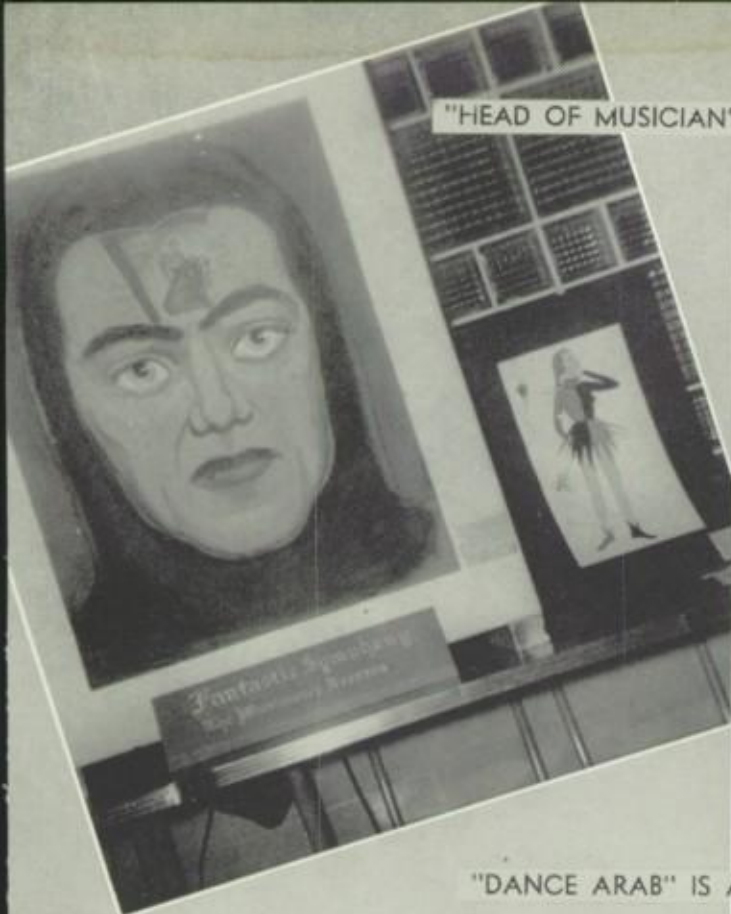

For their outstanding work, the cheerleaders receive a silver megaphone with a red "C." The cheerleaders this year are: Sarah Glover, captain; Janet Powell, Charlotte Noel, Pat Kappner, Kathy Bojar, Ann Pelly, Joyce Lanter, and Frieda Pappashales.

IN MEMORIAM

RAYMOND ANTHONY DAMES

February 23, 1936-September 2, 1956

The staff of the PENDULUM and the citizens of this great institution which is Central High School, do reverently dedicate these pages as a memorial to one of our Alma Mater's most loyal sons. We, who knew him best, know best how unselfishly he gave of his time, his energy, and his substance in support of the school he loved. We, who knew him best, know best how, even after he was stricken with the dreaded leukemia, he continued to give unreservedly of his waning strength to his beloved Central High School and to the host of friends and classmates he had there.

That he loved his Alma Mater was evident not only by what he said but also by what he did. His classwork was exemplary, his conduct was faultless, his participation in activities was broad both actively and vicariously. He supported the athletic teams, attended all social functions, and supported each other activity with a lively interest that is typical of the finest spirit of wholesome young American manhood. No task was too small; no task, too great.

It is, therefore, fitting that these pages be dedicated as a memorial to him, not only because he earned and won our devotion, but also because of the devotion he manifested toward us. Our loss is, therefore, the greater.

To those of us who remain, let this life stand as an example of diligence in personal application to duty, as a model of devotion to our Alma Mater, as a standard of courage in facing the unseen future. That he was taken from among us when still so young is inexplicable to mortal thought, but that his life has achieved a noble purpose is unquestionable if we but emulate his example. We, therefore, dedicate these pages in reverent memory of Raymond Anthony Dames, to serve as an inspiration to all Central High School students—today and forever.

C E N D R A C L U B

Cendra—Central's own dramatic club—is made up of a group of wide-awake, creative young people, full of action and fun and interested in acting, stage work, script writing, the art of make-up and many other aspects of theatrical production and dramatics. Though the name is short the club is big and really lively.

Membership is open to any and all students who qualify by attendance and participation in meetings. Many things may and do happen at meetings, from plays, skits, the appearances of hillbillies and wild spacemen, to guest appearances, parties, and surprises.

The first three letters of the name Cendra were taken from the name of our school to indicate the abundance of school spirit, and the last three were taken from the first three letters of the word "dramatics," the field of interest.

"To gain confidence in your abilities and to have a barrel of fun," say the members, "Cendra is the club to join."

The Visual Aids Club is an important service agency in our school. The members aid the teachers when they wish to present material of learning with more economy of time, greater richness, and with a higher degree of graphic or pictorial representation than can be acquired in the traditional classroom instructional procedure.

Sound and silent movies, strip and slide films, sound recordings, opaque projections and reproducing equipment are included in the Visual Aids program. Members of the Audio-Visual Club are taught to care for and operate the many different types of equipment.

GUIDES

Many times during the school year Central has visitors. They may be groups from colleges, business organizations or out of town schools. To act as host and hostess is the job of our guides. During the spring, visitors from city-wide schools visit Central. They are eighth, ninth, and tenth graders who wish to know more about the high school subjects in planning their future educational program.

Over a period of two weeks, the guides go through a training program followed by a week of guiding our visitors around our tremendous building. They are required to have a "B" average and are selected on the basis of citizenship and a good scholastic record.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

Four years ago Mr. James Mussman organized the Central High School chapter of Youth for Christ. This club is an international organization. Any student who is interested in taking part in the Christian fellowship is eligible for membership. Club meetings are held once a week on Friday in the Lecture Room. At these meetings members have prayer meetings, Biblical discussions, good-will offerings, and other types of worship and Christian fellowship.

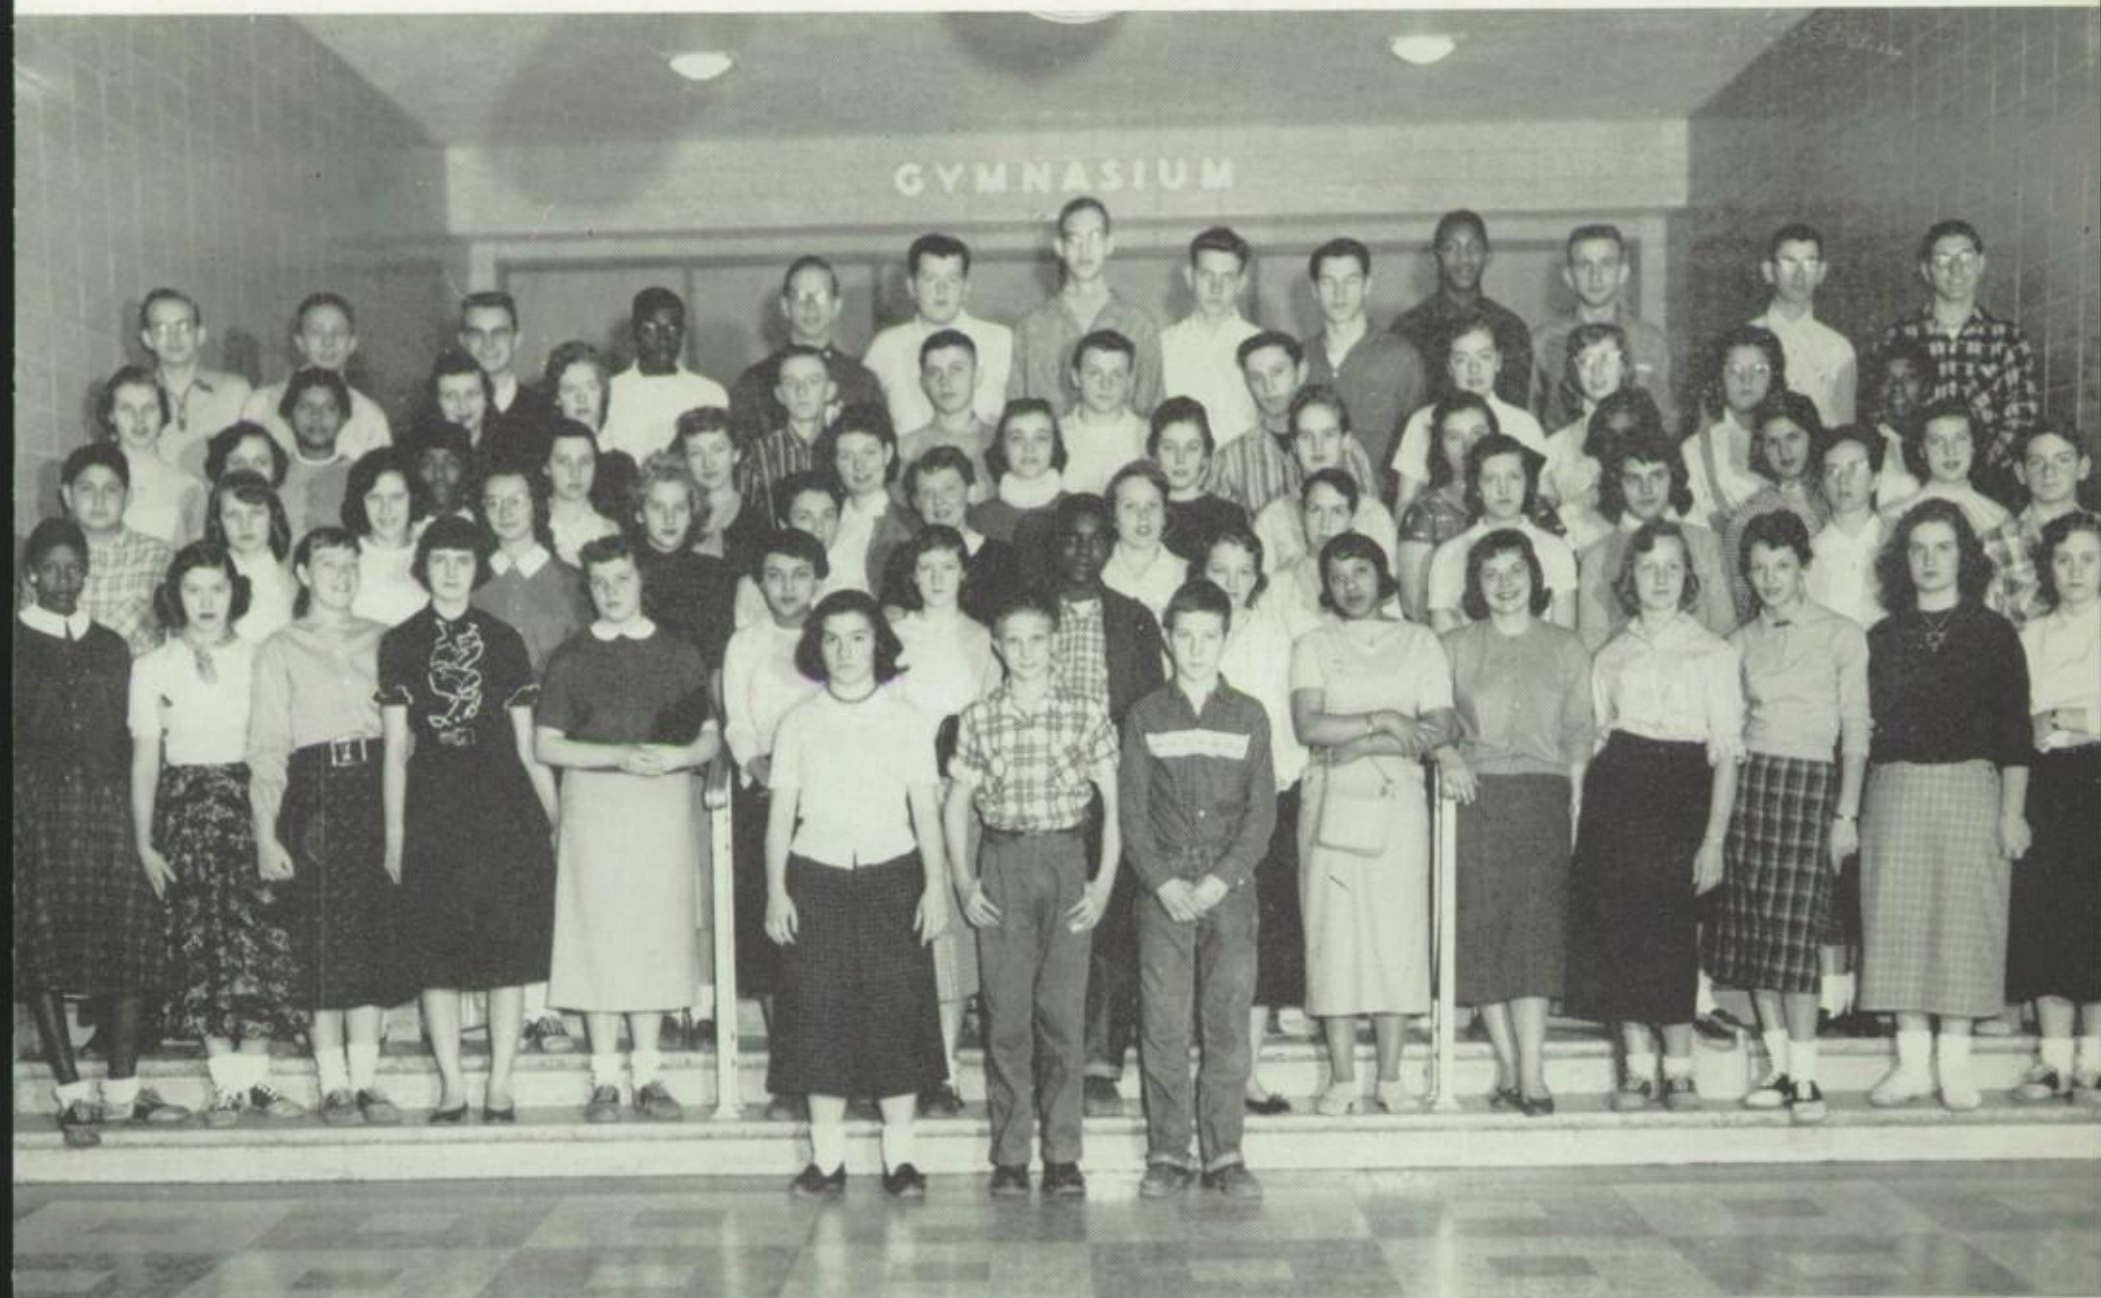

Teams from all of the Youth for Christ clubs in Cincinnati compete against each other in a Bible Quiz. At the end of each year there is a reward for the Youth for Christ club with the most points.

The Central High School chapter of the Youth for Christ club is under the sponsorship of Mr. James Mussman. The club colors are red and yellow. The theme chosen by this club is I Timothy 4:12. This verse reads as follows: "Let no man despise thy youth, but be thou an example of the believer."

The Youth for Christ officers are: Sherry Brown, President; Barbara Sullivan, Alternate President; Barbara Jackson, Vice President; Barbara Needels, Secretary; Elmer Sellers, Treasurer; Virginia Fagin, Song Leader; Joyce Doll, Reporter.

ANNUAL REPRESENTATIVES

The homeroom annual representatives perform a very important service to our school. This group takes orders, makes reports, collects money, attends meetings, delivers annuals to the homerooms at the end of the year and keeps the homerooms posted on the news and progress of the annual. They help sell tickets to the Sweetheart Dance which is a yearly event sponsored by the PENDULUM to defray the expenses of the annual. Mr. Salie is the sponsor of this group.

Y-TEENS

Growth in the love and knowledge of God; wholesome and healthful activities aimed to promote character development and friendship to all races and religions—these are the principles of this group of young Centralites. This organization, known as the Y-Teens, is affiliated with the Cincinnati Y.W.C.A.

The Y-Teens hold their meetings at the local Y.W.C.A. every second and fourth Thursday of the month. Miss Jo Ann Hughes, who last year became faculty advisor for this fine group, along with the many members, believes that fun, together with service to others, offers them a wide variety of activities.

One of their many services is visiting the Children's Convalescent Home each Christmas. This organization is destined to be one of the most active girls' clubs at Central for many years to come. The Y-Teens club does much to promote spirit and citizenship both on and off the campus.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To the entire staff of Central High School we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for the genuinely cooperative spirit in which they helped us to prepare copy, to set up and to identify literally thousands of pictures, and to facilitate the detailed mechanics of yearbook production. In the all-important task of educating some three thousand students, such interruptions as necessitated by our work might indeed prove irritating. However, the response was always the same—"Tell me what to do, and I'll do it!" By this spirit, the 1957 PENDULUM was created. May we credit Miss Loretta Hartzel for her layout work in the advertising section; Mr. Charles Salie for conducting the advertising campaign; Mrs. Bea Jacobson for setting up pictures in the advertising section; Mr. Robert Wheeler and Mr. Walter Brunsman for arranging the variety show pictures; and Mrs. Sylvia Martin for planning the spring play pictures.

The advertisers in the PENDULUM have our endorsement as well as our deep thanks, and we sincerely ask our readers to consider their merits and give them preference whenever possible.
